

COMMITTEE OF 11 FORMS NEW HIGH COUNCIL AT GENOA

Sub-Body Will Decide Several of Most Important Questions to Come Before Economic Gathering.

SOVIET OBJECTIONS MARK THE OPENING

Disarmament Remarks of Chitcherine and His Opposition to Presence of Japan Only Disturbances.

By ARNO DOSCH-FLEUROT, A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

GENOA, April 12.—A new Supreme Council of Europe was formed yesterday in the shape of a subcommittee of Commission No. 1 of the Genoa conference.

While this subcommittee, consisting of 11 members, is supposed to deal only with the three first points of the Cannes resolution—the method of recognizing the soviet—it will be an important body, a body in which two or three of the most important questions will be settled.

Provided the Russians agree to the three points in the Cannes resolution making investment in Russia safe, recognition in some form is certain.

Premier Lloyd George as part of the recognition agreement, intends to push through his plan to induce all the participants to accept the present European frontiers for a period of perhaps 10 years. Such an agreement would turn existing armaments into scrap iron, and land disarmament would take place of itself.

Like his snarling dogs, it was with this thought in mind that he avoided discussion of disarmament Monday and smoothed over the trouble between George Chitcherine and Louis Barthou, heads of the French and Russian delegations.

These two were like the snarling dogs Lloyd George mentioned in his opening address, but the snarl was for another. They were at it again yesterday. The soviet delegation No. 1 formed its subcommittee. Chitcherine wanted two Russians on the committee and Barthou asked sharply why everyone else should be satisfied with one. The soviet delegation replied that Russia was in a special position, as the committee was formed to deal with her and it ought not to be one against 10. The British Premier raised the question of disarmament Monday and smoothed over the trouble between George Chitcherine and Louis Barthou, heads of the French and Russian delegations.

Chitcherine raised the only other two points that disturbed the tranquil morning. He objected to the presence of Japan because Japan is holding a part of Siberia. Viscount Ishii sharply retorted that Japan was not present to please Russia, and her presence was not dependent upon whether or not it was agreeable to Chitcherine.

French Position Better. The bolshevik Foreign Minister next raised objection to Premier J. C. Briatano of Rumania as a member of the committee. The reason given was that Rumania is holding the old Russian province of Bessarabia. M. Briatano contented himself with saying that Bessarabia is overwhelmingly Rumanian.

The composition of the new Supreme Council puts France in a better position than before. After Barthou's unnecessary mediocrity yesterday over Chitcherine's general remarks about disarmament, it appeared as though France was doomed to serious isolation. But Chitcherine's somewhat heated method in posing his objections to day, cost him favor and balances the Frenchman's attitude.

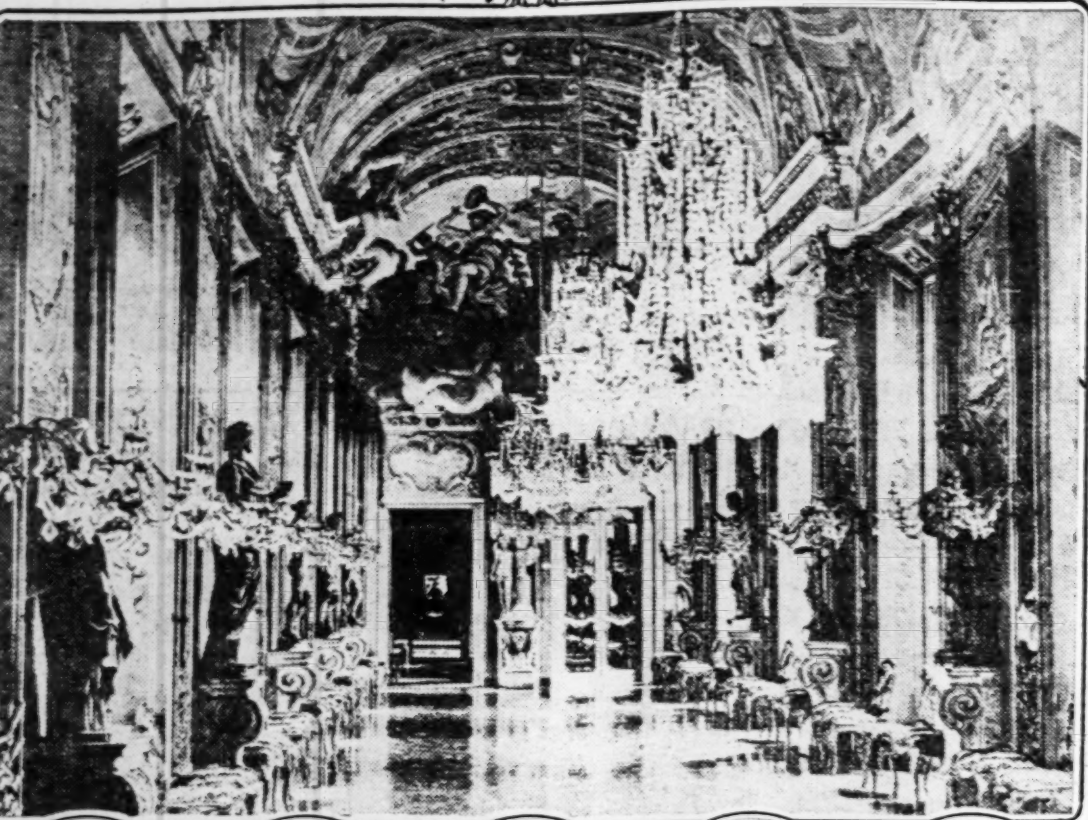

The composition of the subcommittee is an additional strength for France. Briatano and the Polish Minister, Skirmunt, are two of the most likely listeners to French objections. Premier Benes of Czechoslovakia, who opposes the narrow French view, is not on the committee. Both Briatano and Skirmunt have a vital interest in holding Russia to a strict agreement before relations are re-established. The French delegation has officially informed the press that France is not sabotaging the conference, and that all the carping is coming from Chitcherine. The French, however, compliment the correctness of the German attitude.

Hungarian representative, who suggested the formation of four subcommittees so that the problems regarding each of the four principal sections of Europe could be separately considered. Serbia and Holland opposed the Hungarian suggestion. Their opposition was resisted by Hungarians, especially that of Serbia, as the Hungarian delegates said the suggestion was made particularly in the interest of the Balkan countries. U. R. RECEIVER SAYS HE CAN'T MAKE EXTENSIONS

Wells Cites Opinion of Counsel
in Reply to Pine Lawn Petitioners.

Limitations of the receivership of the United Railways prevent an extension of the Natural Bridge line from its present terminus at King's highway and Natural Bridge avenue to Pine Lawn, St. Louis County, Receiver Rella Wells said today, in replying to a petition of the Chamber of Commerce and 29 industries for the extension.

Wells cites an opinion of Charles W. Byates, his counsel, in which Byates declares: "I take it that you could not extend the railway by paying for the extension out of net income for two reasons: first, because the net income is not sufficient, and second, if it were, the Public Service Commission of the State would undoubtedly cut the rate of fare, so that it would not produce enough to invest the same in capital investments, such as extensions."

"The only way therefore of paying for extensions would be by incurring indebtedness and this could only be done by displacing the liens of mortgage holders. I am of the opinion that it would be impractical and indeed it probably would be held by the Court as unlawful for you, as receiver, to make extensions as distinct from conserving and operating the road such as it is and doing those things necessary to economically operate and maintain it in the condition in which you received it."

Receiver Wells, commenting, said: "The restriction under which we are operating is causing me apprehension for the reason that when business becomes normal, there will be a demand and a need for this extension, as well as others, which cannot be provided for under the receivership, and must therefore depend upon the reorganization of the corporation. Both Col. Perkins and myself are doing all we can to hasten reorganization."

In this connection Wells declares that successful reorganization depends largely upon a fair valuation of the company's property now being fixed by the Public Service Commission.

PIONEER MISSOURI BANKER DIES; STARTED CAREER AS TEAMSTER

Thomas W. Cunningham of Joplin Said to Have Saved $500 for $500 Day's Work.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JOPLIN, Mo., April 12.—Thomas W. Cunningham, pioneer banker, who died yesterday, rose from a common laborer to one of the richest men in Southwest Missouri, although his fortune dwindled more than half in later years.

Cunningham was born on a farm near Louisville, Ky., Jan. 18, 1845. When a child he was taken by his parents to Arkansas and soon after the Civil War came to Jasper County, obtaining work as a teamster. He received $1 a day for his services. He boarded with a widow in Oregon and on Sundays, with the use of a team and wagon borrowed from his employers, would go into the woods and haul wood for the widow with which he paid for his board. It is told that he saved $500 paid him for 500 days' work for a mining company. The widow later became his wife, the first of Cunningham's three wives. He could neither read nor write when he entered the mining company's employ and was taught by another employee. In 1887 he came to Joplin and opened a grocery. He was successful and invested his profits in mining. He was fortunate in this also. In 1897 he sold his grocery and went to Oswego, Kan., where he attended school for five years. Then he returned here and opened the Cunningham Bank. For many years only women were employed in the bank.

In 1914 he married Zoe Wilkins, his nurse, to whom he gave virtually all of his bank stock. She sold it to another bank here for more than $300,000. Cunningham was divorced from her a short time afterward and married Tabitha Taylor, his housekeeper, who survives him.

Cunningham twice was Mayor of Joplin.

ODOR OF GAS LEADS POLICEMAN TO HOOTCH STILL IN CELLAR

Odor of gas at 1 a. m. today attracted a policeman passing the moving and storage house at 4007 South Broadway, the proprietor of which, David M. Starr, lives upstairs. The policeman awoke Starr and traced the odor to the basement, where he found, he reported, that the gas meter had been disconnected and a gas stove was burning under a still. There was also in the room what the policeman described in his report as five barrels of whisky mash, 15 gallons of moon-

ANOTHER TRAGEDY IN THE DURYEA FAMILY

World War Veteran, Member of Starch Manufacturers, Takes Own Life in San Francisco.

NEW YORK, April 12.—The suicide of Maj. Frank W. Duryea in San Francisco adds another to the tragedy of the wealthy Duryea family. In 1914 his uncle, Gen. Hiram Duryea, Civil War veteran and millionaire starch manufacturer, was shot and killed by his son, Chester, who was found to be insane. Last July Harry H. Duryea, Maj. Duryea's first cousin, committed suicide in his office. Some years ago Walter B. Duryea, another cousin, broke his neck when diving. After a difficult operation, he lived for 12 years.
Mrs. F. W. Duryea and her son, Wright Duryea, have an apartment at 145 West Twelfth street. Maj. Duryea entered West Point Military Academy in 1894, but was not graduated. He held an executive position for a time in the Glen Cove Starch Works, which was the source of the family wealth. Later he formed the firm of Duryea & Co. and bought a seat on the New York Stock Exchange. His firm was successful for a time, but eventually went out of business. When the United States entered the war he obtained a commission in the Ordnance Department and was sent to France. On his return he was retained in the regular army, being transferred to the Finance Department.

MARRIES WOMAN YACHT GUEST WHO NURSED HIM

Retired Distiller and Widow of Friend Sail for Honeymoon Trip Abroad.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, April 12.—When the Aquitania sailed for England yesterday with her usual quota of brides and bridegrooms, one bridal couple attracted considerable attention.

The groom was Henry Walters, 68, retired distiller, of Baltimore, Md., and one of the country's best-known art collectors. The bride was Mrs.
E. Pembroke Jones of New York, widow of a former United States naval officer and an old school friend of Mr. Walters. They were married two hours before the boat sailed, at the home of Mrs. John Russell Pope. With friends they had come on from California, arriving Monday night.

There was romance behind the wedding. Some years ago while Mrs. Jones' husband was living, Walters had several guests aboard his yacht, Narada, in the Gulf of Mexico. Among them was Mrs. Jones, who said today she and Walters always had been like brother and sister since childhood.

Walters was stricken with a severe illness on the cruise and Mrs.
Jones nursed him to health. Walters said that without doubt it was her care, while the yacht was rushing to port, that saved his life. Her husband died a few years ago and Walters shortly afterward proposed marriage. The wedding was a surprise even to their closest friends.

SAYS ALL AMERICANS SHOULD

Woman Educator Declares at Convention That Illiteracy in U. S.
Is on the Run.

By the Associated Press.
BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 12.—
Illiteracy is on the run and the Federal census of 1930 should not record one American as unable to read, and write, Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart, Frankfort, Ky., chairman of the illiteracy commission of the National Educational Association, said in an address at the illiteracy conference of Southern States here yesterday.

She asserted that the 100,000,000 educated persons in the United States
"could redeem the 5,000,000 illiterates before Christmas if they would." Southern States have the most illiteracy, she said, but were the first to awaken and will be the first part of the country to wipe it out.

"The public school teachers of America are on the war path," she said, "and will never retreat until they have swept the foe—adult illiteracy—from the land."

The news is almost too good to keep. This is just a "tip" to look for our announcement in tomorrow's paper—and then to come down Friday and share in this sensational event.

It's the Last Fraction of Control

that often saves the motorist. And with Concrete pavement, that fraction is available for you.

Good brakes, good tires, good driving—all are necessary, but above all there must be a skid-proof pavement.

Concrete Streets are skid-proof. Tires can grip the firm, gritty surface even in wet weather.

Concrete is clean, permanent, hole-proof—a pavement after the motorist's and home owner's own heart.

Our Booklet R-4 tells other interesting things about Concrete Streets. Write for your copy.

Pimples Blackheads Boils

IT is well known that pimples and blackheads (acne) and boils are often caused by errors of diet.

Fleischmann's Yeast is now being recommended for these embarrassing and painful skin troubles because fresh yeast corrects the errors of diet which cause them.

The surgeon of one important New York hospital states: "I have used yeast extensively and found it invaluable in curing boils." When 17 cases of pimples (acne) were treated with Fleischmann's Yeast at hospitals in New York and Philadelphia the results were remarkable. Typical of these was the case of a young man who had suffered with pimples for three years. He ate three cakes of Fleischmann's fresh yeast daily before meals. In five weeks the eruption had cleared completely.

Today physicians and hospitals are using Fleischmann's fresh yeast as the most efficacious remedy for pimples and boils.

Fleischmann's fresh yeast
rids you of them

If you are ever troubled with pimples or boils, begin at once to correct them by eating 2 to 3 cakes of Fleischmann's fresh yeast every day before or between meals.

WOMAN WINS CLAIM ON VAN BLARCOM ESTATE

Jury Awards Her $20,000 for Services to Mrs. Van Blarcom After Husband's Death.

A verdict giving Miss Julia F. Hodge of Bloomington, Ill., $20,000 in her suit against the estate of Mrs. Mary G. Van Blarcom for 13 years' services as companion to Mrs. Van Blarcom after the death of her husband, J. C. Van Blarcom, president of the National Bank of Commerce, was returned today by a jury in Circuit Judge Falkenhainer's court. Miss Hodge sued for that amount.

The services, it was alleged, continued to Mrs. Van Blarcom's death a year ago and consisted largely of being at the Van Blarcom home, 1 Westmoreland place, four or five months of the year to console Mrs. Van Blarcom and perform other duties. According to testimony, Mrs. Van Blarcom, after the death of her husband, virtually shut herself up in her home and refused to see her old friends. Only a few persons were permitted to see her, among them being Miss Hodge, who was her cousin; Robert E. Moloney, a lawyer; Miss Mary G. Cummings, 5402 Bartmer avenue, a teacher at Principia School, and Frank D. Beardslee of Webster Groves. They testified in support of Miss Hodge's claim. The St. Louis Union Trust Co., as executor of Mrs. Van Blarcom's estate, resisted the claim and appealed to the Circuit Court after it had been allowed in the Probate Court. The executor contended that Miss Hodge was the same as a guest in the Van Blarcom home, it having been her custom for 20 years or more to visit the Van Blarcoms and be entertained by them. John Lewis, a negro servant, testified that Miss Hodge was at the Van Blarcom home as often before Van Blarcom died as she was after his death, but she made her visits longer after Mrs. Van Blarcom was a widow, the negro said.

Lewis was left $100 a month by Mrs. Van Blarcom in her will, the remainder of the income going to her son, Frederick. The son was present to testify in opposition to Miss Hodge, but the trust company did not put him on the stand.

Miss Hodge was not permitted to testify except to explain several checks issued to her by Mrs. Van Blarcom and which were offered in evidence by the trust company. The checks totaled $183. Miss Hodge said that some were given to her to pay personal bills for Mrs. Van Blarcom and that others were compensation for Christian Science treatments she gave to Mrs. Van Blarcom.

LONDON IN ARMS AGAIN TO DEFEND HISTORIC MILK FAIR

Cry of "Red Cow's Milk, Sir," Dates Back to 1700—Petition Sent to King.

(Special Cable Dispatch From the Manchester Guardian to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.)

(Copyright, 1922.) LONDON, April 12.—The "Milk Fair" in St. James Park is again threatened and again London is up in arms to defend it. The stalls where for centuries the thirsty have been able to buy fresh milk are a landmark which the public guards jealously.

Back in 1700 cows were kept in a corner of the park and the cry of "Red cow's milk, sir, red cow's milk" has been familiar to Londoners ever since. In King Edward's reign the plans for the Victoria Memorial entailed sweeping away the stalls, but Mother Bury and Mother Kitchen, who kept the cows then, refused to leave until forcibly ejected.

This made a great public stir, and all sorts of people protested, so the old women were given another site. They are dead, but their successors

Mrs. Caroline Oxford, has the same spirit. She has been ordered to leave because of the replanning of the Horse Guards' parade.

Again, however, the public has intervened and a petition bearing 3000 names has been sent to the King asking him to permit Mother Oxford to move her stalls somewhere else in the park. It is expected the petition will be granted.

PARDON FOR COHEN, TIRE DEALER, REFUSED

Department of Justice States Application Is "Closed Incident" So Far as It Is Concerned.

Post-Dispatch Bureau.
WASHINGTON, April 12.—So far as the Department of Justice is concerned, it was stated today at the office of Pardon Attorney Finch, the application for pardon of Samuel S. Cohen, East St. Louis tire dealer, is a "closed incident." A District Attorney Burnside of East St. Louis, to whom the papers in the case were referred, has returned an adverse report on the application.

Cohen was taken to the Federal prison at Leavenworth last Saturday to begin a five-year sentence for having in his possession hides stolen from an interstate shipment. His application for pardon bore names of a number of East St. Louis business men and politicians, including that of Chief of Police Mulconery. Among others who served as "character witnesses" in the intervention for Cohen was Circuit Clerk Nat Goldstein of St. Louis.

The department refused to disclose the names of those who intervened for Cohen, on the ground that such matters are regarded as confidential.

Sentenced to Five Years.
District Attorney Burnside's report showed that Cohen had had a jury trial in which he was properly convicted and sentenced to five years in prison for having been illegally in possession of the stolen hides, and the department has decided that, on the basis of these facts, there was nothing in the case to warrant clemency. Persons who have been actively interested in Cohen's behalf have been so notified, it was stated.

When Cohen's appeal was brought to the attention of the department, it came with a request that it be given consideration by Senator Spencer. When asked about the case recently, Spencer said that while the name of Cohen was familiar to him, he did not recall that he had written a letter in Cohen's behalf, although he might have done so.

While the business men, police and politicians who signed Cohen's application were actively engaged to have him pardoned, St. Louis detectives and Federal operatives were diligently investigating traffic in stolen Ford cars by Cohen and are still investigating this phase of Cohen's career.

CITY HOSPITAL PATIENT'S LEAP FROM WINDOW PROVES FATAL

Man After Jumping Unable to Explain Act, Declaring He Could Not Remember Incident.

Fred Schaller, 44 years old, of 1902 South Seventh street, a patient at the city hospital, died at 3:45 p. m. yesterday from injuries suffered earlier in the day, when he jumped from a window on the first floor of the hospital, a distance of 15 feet. He suffered several fractured ribs, fractured shoulder and arm.

Schaller was admitted to the hospital March 13, suffering from a blood disorder. After jumping from the window he was questioned by the police as to his reason. He said he did not know what he had done and did not remember jumping. His wife, Mary, lives at the South Seventh street address.

If Ruptured Try This Free

Any ruptured man, woman or child, should call at our office at once for free trial of the Rice Method, including the wonderful Lymphatic Stimulating Application. Just put it on the ruptured area and the muscles begin to tighten; they begin to bind together as the opening closes naturally and the need of support or truss is done away with. Don't neglect to call or send for free trial. Even if your rupture doesn't bother, what is the use of wearing trusses all your life? Why suffer this nuisance? Why run the risk of pain, strain and such dangers from a small and innocent little rupture, the kind that has thrown thousands on the operating table? A host of men and women are daily running such risk just because their ruptures do not hurt now. Prevent them from getting around. Follow the example of the thousands who have accepted our great free trial offer and will report solid and lasting results. It is certainly a wonderful thing and has aided in the cure of ruptures 775 and 800 cases in the last year. Write to us today and we will send you a free trial of the Rice Method. If you cannot call at once, phone 514-1111. Write to us at once. Send us a free demonstration trial and we will mail you without charge. Write to: Rice Method, 114 North Seventh St., St. Louis 11.

FOR A CONSTIPATED CHILD

A small dose of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will bring quick relief.

MOTHER, when one of the children is constipated are you going to give the first laxative within reach? It is dangerous to do so. Some have been known to rupture the intestines of little children. Don't be beguiled by the outside sugary appearance. Look into the formula. Calomel is seldom necessary; salts, minerals, coal tar, never!

Unlike these, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is admirable for children, as it is for grown people, too. Mothers have been giving it to children for 30 years. They know it does not gripe, and is free from narcotics. The formula is on every package, and you can see it is vegetable, just a combination of Egyptian Senna and other laxative herbs with pepsin. Use it yourself and you will find it is not necessary to take it every day, nor to increase the dose, and that it is pleasant to the taste. Bottles can be had at all drug stores, and the cost is only about a cent a dose. Have no hesitancy giving it to a baby in arms. It is absolutely safe.

Half-Ounce Bottle Free

Free escape constipation, no matter how long it has been there. If you do not require a laxative at this moment, let me send you a Half-Ounce Trial Bottle of my Syrup Pepsin FREE OF CHARGE so that you will have it handy when needed. Simply send your name and address to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 514 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. Write me today.

GRILLING FOR PARENTS OF BEAUVAIS DUE TODAY

Guide's Father and Mother on Stand for Mrs. Stillman, Gave Testimony Yesterday.

By the Associated Press.
MONTREAL, April 12.—Several cross-examination awaited the full-blooded Indian, Louis Beauvais, father of the guide, Fred Beauvais, when trial of the Stillman divorce case was resumed here today.

Yesterday the Indian parents defended their son and Mrs. Anne U.
Stillman against the charges of misconduct made by James A. Stillman, New York banker, who alleged, in suing for divorce, that they had misbehaved in the Quebec woods, and that Fred Beauvais was the father of little Guy Stillman.

By their testimony, Fred's father and mother sought to show it would have been impossible for workmen at the Stillman summer camp, near Grande Anse, Quebec, to have drawn aside roller curtains and peeped at Beauvais and Mrs. Stillman in the bedroom of the lodge. They said there were no roller curtains on the windows at that time, the summer of 1918. Mrs. Beauvais, however, was declared to have been uncertain on this point.

Other Points of Difference.
There were other points of difference between their statements and those of their neighbors, who more than a year ago testified against Mrs.
Stillman. The neighbors swore that Mrs. Stillman and Beauvais occupied adjoining rooms in the lodge and that the Stillman children—Anne, Alexander and James—slept in tents outside.

Beauvais and his wife said there were no tents on the place at that time. The children and Mrs. Stillman occupied rooms on the ground floor, they said, and Beauvais slept upstairs.

Mrs. Beauvais, after identifying Fred's handwriting on three insignificant notes, however, was said also to have identified a letter in which Fred told of the tents being on the place.

Counsel for Mrs. Stillman called several French-Canadians today to batter down evidence alleged to show she misadvised herself in various places along the St. Maurice River.

Bribery Charges Gone Into.
Others were summoned to support charges that attempts to bribe witnesses to tell of such improprieties were made by J. Albert Lafontaine, alleged representative of Stillman.

Sir St. Maurice testified that he overheard Lafontaine offer to pay $5000 to two workmen, Ferdinand Page and Harry Grennon, if they would swear they had seen wrongful conduct by Mrs. Stillman and Beauvais. This offer was alleged to have been made in June, 1920, just before Stillman filed his charges. In December of that year, both Page and Grennon testified in New York that they had peeped through windows and key-holes at the Stillman camp in 1919 and had seen Mrs. Stillman improperly conducting herself with Beauvais.

Another defense witness, Armand
Page, said Lafontaine offered him
"two or three thousand dollars" for similar testimony, but he refused the proposition. Neither Page nor Simand was cross-examined.

BURCH JURY CHALLENGE DENIED

By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 12.—
For the second time during the second trial of Arthur C. Burch, charged with the murder of J. Belton Kennedy, broker, here, Aug. 6, the defense yesterday challenged a jury panel. The challenge was denied by Judge Reeve.

In making the challenge, Paul W.
Schenck, chief of counsel for the defense, directed it against a jury panel called by Judge Reeve from an another department of the court.
Opposition by talesmen to inflicting the death penalty in the principal cause of the delay in selecting a jury. Out of 64 men called, 50 of them have been excused on this ground, and two for other causes.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there is no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action, yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c & 30c.

An advertisement in newspapers today by the Chamber of Commerce threatens a resort to the power of public opinion to prevent the payment to building craftsmen of wages higher than the average paid in "competing cities."

This is in support of the stand of the Master Builders' Association for a 95-cent wage for carpenters, who have offered to accept a 10 per cent reduction, from $1.18 an hour to $1.13 1/2. At the Carpenter's District Council it was stated officially that there is no present intention to recede from the carpenters' position.

Text of Advertisement.

The Chamber of Commerce advertisement follows:

"To the Citizens, Building Contractors and Building Trades Crafts of St. Louis:

"St. Louis is being discriminated against in the matter of wages in the building industry to such an extent that building for commercial and industrial purposes is practically at a standstill. The cause is shown by the following comparative wage and building figures:

St. Louis Chicago Detroit Los Angeles San Francisco
Carpenters $1.13 1/2 .80 $1.00 $1.04
Plumbers .95 $1.00 1.12 1.04
Painters .87 1.10 1.00 1.25 1.27
Building work in January and February, 1922: St. Louis, $2,405,283; Chicago, $21,024,250; Detroit, $7,080,570; Los Angeles, $15,524,878; San Francisco, $8,959,978.

Millions in Work Held Up.

"Millions of dollars in building work is being indefinitely held up in St. Louis with growing danger that many of the proposed structures will be erected in other cities where more favorable building conditions exist, together with the complete abandonment of extensive building plans here.

"Industries are discouraged from coming to St. Louis, and those that are here are unjustly handicapped.

"The situation as it exists today is totally unfair to those crafts who have voluntarily made reductions in line with the comparative scales in other cities.

"This discrimination on the part of either building contractors or craftsmen must not continue, and should any of them agree to the payment of wages higher than the average scale in other competing cities, we will invoke the power of public opinion in correction.

"ST. LOUIS CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

"By Direction of the Board of Directors."

The regular meeting of the Carpenter's District Council last night reiterated the carpenters' stand. The Chamber of Commerce action was discussed, but without resultant action. The secretary, J. Lee Fritz, was directed to reply to the recent petition of six civic and commercial organizations, including the Chamber of Commerce, asking the carpenters to arbitrate the wage matter, as the master builders had asked.

Fritz's reply reviewed the carpenters' wage situation and contained this statement: "It is true that in many places carpenters are employed at a lower rate than in St. Louis, but inasmuch as we are erecting work here cheaper than in the localities referred to, due to higher efficiency, the cost cannot be higher, though the wage scale is."

The reply pointed out that the

In 1921 Means filed a claim with the Southeastern Express Co. for $7,000. He asserted he had expressed a package containing that amount in cash to Keehn, but when arrived it contained nothing but a cask of wood. Beyond the filing of the claim no steps have been taken toward settlement.

SENATE TARIFF BILL RATES COMPARED WITH FORDNEY AND FORMER SCHEDULE

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Here are given some of the more important rates in the tariff bill, reported yesterday to the Senate by the Finance Committee, with comparison with the Fordney bill and the Payne-Aldrich, the last Republican protective tariff act, and Underwood laws, wherever feasible. The ad valorem rates in the Fordney measure are based on American valuation, but they are used here in the comparisons. Experts attached to the committee say that 25 per cent American valuation is generally equivalent to 50 per cent foreign valuation.

Because entirely different classifications have been used in drafting the wool schedule in the new bill, as comparison of the rates in that schedule with those in the famous schedule K of the Payne-Aldrich bill is undertaken. The raw wool rates in the Senate measure are about equal to those in the Payne-Aldrich law, however, and Senator Smoot of Utah, who drafted the new schedule, says some of the other rates are as high as corresponding provisions in schedule K, while others are lower.

FIGHT ON TARIFF BILL IN PROSPECT IN CONFERENCE

Indications at Present That Joint Body Will Divide 7 to 3 Against American Valuation Basis.

FORDNEY HAS SAID HOUSE WON'T YIELD

Senators Studying Measure in Preparation for Long Controversy Ahead on the Senate Floor.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—The declaration by Chairman Fordney of the House Ways and Means Committee, that the House never would yield on American valuation, has revived discussion of the tariff question at the Capitol with opponents and proponents estimating their possible strength when the bill gets to conference between the Senate and House.

Chairman Fordney is of the opinion that the conferees will accept American valuation, but Senator Smoot of Utah, ranking Republican on the Senate Finance Committee, does not subscribe to this view. As the situation now stands, it would appear that the conferees would be at least seven to three against the proposition.

Senators generally are studying today the new tariff bill as reported yesterday to the Senate in preparation for the long days of controversy that are ahead on the Senate floor. Several amendments to rates in the bill already have been offered from the Republican side, while Democrats are preparing to make a general assault on the measure as well as separate attacks on many of the rates. Democrats on the Finance Committee have been given 10 days in which to file their minority report.

GOMPERS AVERS BIG BUSINESS CAN'T WELL CUT PAY FURTHER

Intimates in Speech at Chicago That Chaos Would Follow Additional Wage Reduction.

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, April 12.—Big business can't reduce wages further, "unless it is willing to share responsibility for the chaos that would follow," Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, declared in an address before the City Club yesterday.

Organized Labor, he said, was the supreme barrier against a state of anarchy in the United States.

"If long hours and low wages make for commercial prosperity, then Chicago would be the leader in the family of nations," Gompers said.

GENOA CONFERENCE AT ONCE STEPS INTO STRIDE AFTER BRUSH OF WIT AT OPENING

New Council of Europe, Known as the First Eleven, Presents New Clash of Forces From Which Spark of New Life Is Expected.

By JOHN MAYNARD KEYNES.

Fellow and Bursar, Kings College, Cambridge; editor, Economic Journal (London); author, "The Economic Consequences of the Peace," and a revision of the treaty.

Copyright, 1922, by Pulitzer and Press Publishing Companies (the Post-Dispatch and New York World).

GENOA, April 11.—The conference has opened quietly and sensibly after overcoming successfully two preliminary obstacles. The Russian delegates are excluded from the competence of a technical commission and are handed over to a fourth body, named Commission No. 1. All political topics relating to peace guarantees and Russia—all the strong meat, that is to say—is to be served up to this commission.

As every participating Government nominates either one or two representatives to this body, it is very large. But it is to delegate its power immediately to a smaller body, modestly called the drafting sub-commission of 11 members, one each from the inviting Powers, Italy, Great Britain, France, Belgium and Japan, and one each from Russia and Germany, with four representatives from the remaining states.

New Clash of Forces.

Barthou and Thomsen strongly demanded the exclusion of Germany and Russia from this body, to which Lloyd George retorted that in that case the conference might as well be abandoned at once. The new council of Europe will consist of Schanzer as chairman, Lloyd George, Barthou, Thomsen, Ishii, Wirth, with Rathenau as deputy, Chicherin, Motta, Branting, Brattiano and Skirman.

It is an interesting body, presenting a new clash of forces and temperaments, from which perhaps some new spark of life may be struck out.

But the initial problem of the conference, to concentrate the essential business in a few hands, is not yet finished. The mob of delegates, each so important at home and so unimportant here, particularly on the financial side, some of the best brains and wisest experience available.

But there is also a fourth body, which is really one of our old friends, the Council of Ten, or the Big Four, except that this time we must call it the First Eleven. The first three of the Cannes resolutions.

RESULTS OF PRIMARY ELECTION IN ILLINOIS

Yates and Rathbone Appear to Have Won Republican Nominations for Congress at Large.

CHICAGO, April 12.—Late returns in yesterday's State congressional primaries reeled up increasing leads for Congressman Yates and for Henry R. Rathbone of Kentworth, for the Republican nominations for Congressman at large. Mrs. Winifred Mason Huck, was steadily losing in her race for nomination for the vacancy left by her father, Congressman Mason, when he died, and at noon was trailing Stephen Day of Evanston, by more than 10,000 on returns from 2674 precincts out of 5788 in the State.

The vote stood in 3743 out of 5788 precincts: Yates, 21,543; Rathbone, 109,947; Brown, 130,150. To fill vacancy, 3474 out of 5788 precincts (one to be nominated): Day, 101,215; Huck, 91,184; Brown, 65,670.

Close on Democratic Side. A close contest seemed imminent in the Congressional at-large race in the Democratic side. With 2668 precincts out of 5788, in Illinois representing the vote stood William Murray, Chicago, 34,545; Elmon J. Gorman, Chicago, 31,382; John L. Sweeney, East St. Louis, 27,705; Michael D. Cleary of Galena, 29,915; C. B. Schneider, Paxton, 21,935; Alton D. Albert, Paris, 18,624; Willis R. Shaw, Odell, 14,134.

In the district congressional fights the following results were indicated from almost complete returns:

First District—Congressman Madison, Republican, renominated. Second District—Congressman Sprout, Republican, renominated. His Democratic opponent will be Thomas W. Crane of Chicago.

Fourth District—Congressman John W. Rainey, Democrat, renominated. Henry G. Dobler, Chicago, leads the two other Republican aspirants by an apparently safe margin.

Fifth District—Congressman Adolph J. Sabath, Democrat, renominated. His Republican opponent will be Jacob Gartenstein, Chicago.

Sixth District—Congressman John J. Gorman, Republican, renominated. His Democratic opponent appears to be James R. Buckley on fairly complete returns. Michaelson Renominated. Seventh District—Congressman M. A. Michaelson, Republican, renominated. Frank M. Padden, Chicago, had an easy victory and will be his Democratic opponent.

Eighth District—Congressman Stanley Kunz, Democrat, renominated, and Fred S. de Cola, Republican, will oppose him.

Ninth District—J. A. Prendergast, Democrat, of Chicago, won the right to oppose Congressman Madison, Republican, who had no opposition.

Tenth District—Congressman Carl R. Chindross, Republican, won out in a rather spiteful contest. On the Democratic side B. M. Wiedinger, Chicago, appears to be the winner of an interesting race with Charles B. Stafford of Evanston.

Eleventh District—Frank R. Reed, Aurora, is leading Congressman Ira D. Copley on the face of 102 out of 188 precincts for the Republican nomination. The vote stood Reed, 12,581; Copley, 16,749.

Sixteenth District—With 148 out of a total of 215 precincts heard from Congressman Clifford Ireland defeated William E. Hull, Peoria, for the Republican nomination. The vote stood Hull, 11,952; Ireland, 11,007.

Reports From Cannon's District. Eighteenth District—John E. Lewman, Danville, led rolls up a nice lead over three opponents in the race for "Uncle Joe" Cannon's seat. In 154 precincts out of 213 the vote was: Lewman, 7483; E. B. Copley, Danville, 4953; William P. Holladay, Georgetown, 5392; Charles W. Raymond, Watauga, 4398. Holladay was known as the Small candidate.

STUDENTS PAY TRIBUTE TO JOSEPH PULITZERColumbia U. School of Journalism Classes Place Wreath on Bust of the Late Editor.By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 12.—The memory of the late Joseph Pulitzer was honored on the anniversary of his birth yesterday by the students of the Pulitzer School of Journalism, Columbia University, the first school of its kind in the world, which was founded by Mr. Pulitzer.

The conclusion of simple and solemn ceremonies was the placing of a green laurel wreath on the bust of Mr. Pulitzer that stands in the vestibule of the building, 116th street and Broadway. Foster Eaton of Waterville, Me. president of the class of 1922, hung the wreath on the pedestal. Following these words
by Joseph Bell Jones of West Plains, Mo. president of this year's graduating class:

"From the many-sidedness of Joseph Pulitzer, the elder, one characteristic stands out—his extraordinary, amazing energy. The monuments he has left in his newspapers and in the School of Journalism are not more lasting than the inspiration of his determination and tireless work. When the students of the school he founded place this wreath in memory of Mr. Pulitzer's birth it is in acknowledgment of his material benefactions to his school and to the world. We shall do our utmost to honor him in following that example."

Classes Gather in Assembly.
Shortly after 4 o'clock the classes of the school gathered in an assembly room to hear an address on the life of Mr. Pulitzer by Dr. Talcott Williams, professor emeritus of journalism and director of the School of Journalism, 1912-1919. Dr. John W. Cunliffe, director of the school, presided. The World was represented by John Langdon Heaton and the Evening World by Palmer Smith.
These members of the faculty were present: Roscoe C. Brown, Walter B.
Pittkin, Charles P. Cooper, Albert W.
Atwood, Walter Pritchard Eaton,
Harold de Wolf Fuller, Ralph H.
Graves, Merrill E. Rukeyser, Max
Lincoln Schuster, Alan H. Temple, Allen Sinclair Will and Henry Woodward Sackett.

Dr. Williams said in part:
"When Joseph Pulitzer announced his intention of establishing a school of journalism, he found the world of journalism and the world of education in opposition. A leading educator of the United States declared the practice of journalism was a matter of dexterity rather than of men and, while he admitted that college education would make a man a better journalist, he believed it was the material that constituted the man that counted most."

"The reason that Joseph Pulitzer rather than any other publisher founded a school of journalism was that he, more than any other publisher, was a student. Though he was educated politically in the State Legislature of Missouri and in the constitutional convention of that state before he was 30, he believed himself deficient in political economy. He studied every night though he had to be early at his desk, until he was well grounded in political economy and could interpret the great issues of the day while other papers were vacillating and being led in all directions by every whisper. He could speak four languages and he enlarged his vocabulary in these until, his eyesight failed, he could have books in those languages read to him by his secretaries."

"Amazing Instance of Success."
"Never in the history of journalism has there been so amazing an instance of success. Col. Thayer, now deceased, showed me a letter from Pulitzer to the effect that the World, in 1890, had made a gross profit of $1,000,000. That much had been accomplished in seven years and a half."

Dr. Williams then went back to Mr. Pulitzer's purchase of the World.
"Mr. Pulitzer made many changes in the staff," he said. "He reduced the staff, we thought. There is always a lot of dead weight about a newspaper. But as soon as the office was reorganized on a basis of efficiency, Mr. Pulitzer began increasing salaries as they never had before. Mr. Pulitzer was not interested in increasing salaries and requiring increased efficiency."

"One of Mr. Pulitzer's greatest changes was to change the journalism from a man who watched the accidents of parties take place into the man who has a creed of his own and is willing to see it through at all hazards. I beseech you to see the world internationally. Make yourself a creed."

Mr. Pulitzer was often criticized in life. Probably there were steps he took that can be criticized, but he was always on the side of the American people. What he has done in his life is what brings me greatly together.
And I shall end by saying that every man who has been forgiven him, for he loved liberty much."

After the wreath was placed, tea was served by the women students of the school of journalism.

BUNDLE PROVES TO BE A BABY

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, April 12.—Louis Moskovitz, 13 years old, accepted 15 cents from a woman last night for delivering a bundle. When he couldn't find the address, he gave him he asked a policeman for aid. The officer examined the bundle and found a 5-day-old babe with the note: "I can't support this one.
Raise it in the Jewish faith."
Police are seeking the mother.

BRYAN NOT A CANDIDATE

By the Associated Press.
MIAMI, Fla., April 12.—In announcing yesterday that he would not be a candidate for the United States Senate from Florida, William Jennings Bryan issued a statement saying that all his fights had been for Democratic principles and policies, that nearly all of these had been written into unappealable law and that he could not, "at my age, turn from such enjoyable work to personal politics."

PRINCE OF WALES ARRIVES IN TOKIO

Help to British Throne Received by Japanese Empress at Imperial Palace.

By the Associated Press.
TOKIO, April 12.—The Prince of Wales arrived here this afternoon on a special train from Yokohama and was driven in an open carriage, escorted by cavalry, to the Imperial Palace, where he was received by the Empress. Later he went to the Alasaka Palace, where he will reside while in Tokio.

Crowds greeted the royal visitor at the railroad station and cheered him along the route to the palace, over which triumphal arches had been erected.

Thousands greeted the Prince as he landed at Yokohama from the British battle cruiser Renown which brought him from India.

His reception was carried out according to the program, to the minutest details, as is the Japanese custom. Yokohama's welcome was not noisy, judging by American standards, as the children who lined the streets are disciplined to silence. The picture they made with thousands of waving flags in the bright sunshine was inspiring.

While the occasion was essentially Anglo-Japanese, the American colony was assigned to an advantageous spot from which to view the proce-sion, and the American Ambassador, Charles R. Warren, was presented to the Prince upon the latter's arrival at the Alaskan Palace.

The Renown was escorted in from sea by the Japanese light cruiser division, and in the bay six battleships, including the famous Mutsu, joined the escort. As the vessels entered the harbor there was a roar of guns and a shrieking of sirens. Every class of society was represented in the crowds on the wharves.

The Prince was conveyed from Yokohama to Tokio in a special train, three coaches of which were especially built for his visit.

The car set aside for the Prince's use is elaborate, with mahogany woodwork and silk panels. Another coach contains a dining saloon and servants' compartment, while the third is reserved for the members of the Reception Committee, the head of which will accompany the Prince on his journeys.

HUMAN EXHIBITS USED IN FIGHT ON PROPOSED PAY CUT

Employees of Railroads Testify on Wages on Track Repair Work Fail to Provide Necessaries.

WOMAN AT HEARING IN BORROWED COAT

Her Boy Undernourished, She Tells Rail Board at Chicago, and Doctor Says He Must Have Milk.

CHICAGO, April 12.—Human exhibits to prove that maintenance of way railroad employees cannot live properly on their present pay today were brought before the United States Railroad Labor Board hearing into the road's demands for wage cuts, when Frank P. Walsh, union attorney, called to the witness stand a number of employees who personally told the board their present earnings kept them underfed, underclothed and lacking some of the necessities of life.

Mrs. Joseph Saboni, wife of a Milwaukee, Wis., section hand, was the first exhibit called. She told the board that she had to borrow the old coat she wore to make the trip here. At the end of her story she turned to the board members and said:

"I know that you won't cut my husband's pay, when you know we can't live on what he's getting now." Cities Expenses for Month.

Mrs. Saboni said her husband's earnings last month were $70. His monthly expenses were given as $40 for groceries, $20 for meat, $15 for rent and $3.50 for milk. Her 16-year-old boy was told by a school nurse that he had consumption and she took him out of school, but the doctor said he was merely undernourished, she testified.

"We fed him mostly on tea, bread and syrup," she said, "but the doctor said he had to have milk."

Mrs. T. D. Osborne, wife of a Honaker (Va.) section foreman, carried an 8-month-old baby to the witness stand with her. Her husband's pay was $113 a month, she said, adding that it was impossible to dress her eight other children for Sunday school, although this had been possible previous to the last pay cut.

A vivid picture contrasting living conditions of Mexican laborers and American railroad workers in Denver, Colo., was drawn by F. J. Weippert, section foreman, and his wife, Minnie. Weippert said he and his wife and two children lived in a box car in the railroad yards, because they couldn't afford to rent a house. Not far away, on the city dumps, until their slacks were burned down by the city, lived several thousand Mexican laborers, he said.

Working every day in the year, Weippert testified that he could make only $119.20 a month.

POLICE SAY SALESMAN ADMITS REPORT OF ROBBERY WAS FALSE

The police announced today that Rudolf B. Artmann, 29 years old, a salesman for the Peter Hauptmann Tobacco Co., had confessed that his report that he had been robbed on April 7 of about $500 in cash was untrue and that he had made the report to cover a shortage of about that sum in collections for his company. He had spent $500 of the company's money, he said, gambling in St. Louis County, having endeavored to make up early losses by continued use of money he had collected from customers.

Artmann originally told the police that two men in an automobile had stopped his car and that they had compelled him to drive them a short distance over city streets when they robbed him of the money and stole his automobile. Going over the route he described, the police discovered discrepancies. They further learned that the automobile, which he said had been stolen, was left near the General Motors Co. plant a half hour before the hour of the robbery.

FORMER POLICEMAN FREED OF BRIBE CHARGE

Defense Was He Borrowed $75 and Saloon Keeper Tried to "Frame Him."

August Rogge of 4640 Alaska avenue, a former special policeman of the Souldard Street District, was acquitted of a charge of accepting a bribe, by a jury in Circuit Judge Hogan's court yesterday.

It was alleged that Rogge, who resigned from the Police Department afterwards, accepted $75 from An-tone Swetz, a saloon keeper at 1027 Ceyer avenue, Oct. 28 last, as a bribe to provide police protection for the saloon for two weeks.

The jury deliberated 20 minutes.
The trial began Monday. The prose-cution's case depended on the testimony of Swetz and his assistant, Sergeant Dudley W. McDonald, now a Lieutenant. Swetz declared that Rogge came to him Oct. 26 and demanded a bribe of $150, and that he arranged with the Inspector to let him give Rogge $75 in marked money on Oct. 28, which he said he did. He said Rogge then promised him two weeks' protection. Gerk and McDonald testified to watching from a shed as Rogge took money from Swetz.

The defense was that Rogge had borrowed the money from the saloon keeper, who, it was charged, was trying to "frame" a case against the special policeman in revenge for his activity in raiding the saloon. Three men who heard Swetz and Rogge talking in the saloon Oct. 26 testified that Swetz told them afterwards he was trying to get Rogge to accept a loan, "to frame him." Swetz declared that he had no need of police protection, for he sold liquor at no time.

There were a number of character witnesses for Rogge, including some Police Captains. Rogge testified that he had borrowed the money from Swetz.

Thinking Robbers Had Left Store, He Steps From Behind Counter and They Take His $15.

Maurice A. Ridker, 4251 Page boulevard, stood behind the prescription counter in the drug store of Julius Sanowsky, 218 Pendleton avenue, at 11 o'clock last night, while two armed negroes held up Sanowsky and his father, Adolph, in the front of the store, taking $59.53 from the cash register.

Believing the negroes had departed, Ridker, after a few minutes, walked from behind the counter into the front of the store. The negroes, who were about to leave, saw him and turned.

"You're just in time," they told him, and using their revolvers, made him leave the store with them and walk down an alley a half block, where they put a revolver to his ear and robbed him of $15.

"Now go back to the store and stay there," they ordered, as they ran away.

Well Known Hospital Physician Says These Are Some of the Danger Signals of Exhausted Nerve Force—What To Do

One of the most terrible of all human ailments is exhausted nerve force. It weakens all the vital organs of the body and as a result all kinds of alarming symptoms may appear.
Some people get nervous indigestion,
pains over the eyes, in the heart, and across the small of the back; in others the first symptoms are mental instead of physical—sleeplessness, worry over trifles, or inability to concentrate on your work.

The nervous mother is upset by her children, squabbles with her husband, has frequent fits of the "blues" and bursts into tears over the smallest troubles. In such cases it is worse than useless to waste time taking stimulating medicines or narcotic drugs; the starving nerve cells must have nerve food which is supplied by the blood. Any physician unpublished Sardinia still. It lies within the net of this European civilization but it isn't landed yet. And the net is getting old and tattered.

How can the fascination of this book, called by some critics, by the way, the best travel volume within a year, be better indicated than this quotation from the author's text? It is truly a very charming work about a very charming country by a writer with a keen imagination and a fine capacity to tell of what he sees. It is handsomely illustrated in colors by Jan Juts, son of the President of the South African Republic.

"TALES OF MEAN STREETS," by Arthur Morrison, with preface by H. L. Mencken. (Bonl & Liveright.)

"CONTEMPORARY SCIENCE," edited by Benjamin Harrow, who also supplies an introduction. (Bonl & Liveright.)

"PASSAGES FROM THE DIARY OF SAMUEL PEPYS," edited by Richard Le Gallienne, who also supplies an introduction. (Bonl & Liveright.)

"MEN, WOMEN AND BOATS," by Stephen Crane. Introduction by Vincent Starrett. (Bonl & Liveright.)

These four volumes, bound in limp leather, are the latest additions to the "Modern Library of the World's Best Books," issued by the publishing house, Payson Dineen and Crane's "Men, Women and Boats" need no further introduction, but Morrison's "Tales of Mean Streets" was first published nearly 10 years ago and is almost forgotten even in the book world; but Mencken, in his introduction, pays the high tribute to its character by attributing to it inspiration for Thomas Burke's "Lime House Nights" and James Stephens' "Hunger." "Contemporary Science" consists of contributions by acknowledged leaders of thought on the progress of science, investigation down to and including Einstein.

"THE EVOLUTION OF CIVILIZATION," by Joseph McCabe. (G. P. Putnam's Sons.)

The author endeavors to present within the compass of a small volume the high points of the subject only and succeeds admirably. The reader is carried from the period of the brute man to our own age of culture in a way to popularize this tremendous subject.

"THE WILDS OF THE WILD," by Marshall Little-Brown & Co.

Lives and habits of wild animals which inhabit a wilderness in Idaho are described in a style and with evident observation and sympathetic feeling. A forest fire is pictured in its frightful beauty. But on such entertaining features the book is very much on the usual run of stories of the western country.

"THE BLOW, AND SPERM AT THAT," by William Johns Hopkins. (Houghton-Mifflin.)

A thrilling narrative of life on a whaling ship that worked out of New Bedford in the '70s, by a New Bedford man who was reared in the atmosphere of whale oil and romance that abounds in that old port. The book gives the details of the trade in its palmy days and relates the incidents culled from New Bedford memories. The stories are represented as being told by a retired whaler.

"BIRTHRIGHT," by T. S. Stripling. (The Century Co.)

His novel gives a powerful, though pessimistic, picture of negro life in a definite locality of the South—the Tennessee River region. Back to the "Nigertown" of a small river community come Peter Siner, a mulatto who has been through Harvard, and Tump Pack, a returning war hero, not yet over his amazement at the medal he received in France for "stobbin' fo' white men wid a baynet."

Peter has no idea of racial equality, but is sincerely desirous of helping the people of his race to help themselves. His plans for an industrial school fail, through the rascality of a white banker, who sells Peter a tract of land by a deed in which a "nigger-stoppel" clause has been inserted. This amuses the whites, and impairs Peter's prestige among his own people. The rivalry into which he is forced with Tump Pack, because of Cissie Dilline's preference for him over Tump, makes matters more difficult. He serves an erratic Southern gentleman as a sort of secretary, and his last effort in the negroes' behalf is an endeavor to get better pay and treatment for negro household servants, and to get the servants to quit stealing from their employers. This is cynically received by the whites, and the idea fares no better among the negroes, one of whom defines grand larceny as "tak'in' mo' at one time 'an' de white folks 'speck you to take." Eventually, Peter finds it best to take the advice of the town constable and "drift on away," so he marries Cissie and takes her North with him, a job having been promised to him in Chicago.

That is not all of the story. There is the tragedy of Cissie—a tragedy of racial traits and surroundings. The only educated girl in Nigertown, she is "light-skinned," and this failing makes her the prey of a worthless white youth. There is the greater tragedy pictured in the difference of the negro community to its own welfare, and the contemptuous unfairness of the whites toward the "queer people who would never get on well at all," partly because of their "untoward streaks of sympathy" for each other.

In the Literary Letter Box

IN co-operation with the extension division of the New York Public Library, The Bookman is inaugurating a new service for literary clubs. The editorial staff of The Bookman will answer promptly any question confronting any literary club.

THE personal memory of John Butler Yates, who died the other day in New York, will be treasured by every American who had the privilege of conversing with Mr. Yates at his table in Pelipas on Twenty-ninth street in New York, where he had lived during most of the "short visit" on which he arrived in America 13 years ago.

He must have liked us pretty well, this captivating author—artist—philosopher—patriot. His arrival on these shores was almost accidental. The trip was made on some money which friends presented to him in order to enable him to see Italy. Yates, true to his charming irrepressibility of tongue, surprised the fund and went to America, accompanied by the amused applause of all his supporters.

For close on to 13 years he calmed himself with a transparent fiction, always setting just a month or so ahead the date of his return to Dublin.

By profession a painter, he was greatly impeded in his chosen art by failing eyesight, so that his real contribution to art, after he settled in America, was probably in his essays and letters.

AN INTRODUCTION.

This will introduce our good friend Mr. Hurricane Williams. He is a little emphatic at times, though gentle enough when not angered. Any favor you show Mr. Williams we shall appreciate greatly. Cordially yours,

THE BOBBS-MERRILL CO.

THE last quarterly number of The Missouri Historical Review derives much value from three extensive articles: "Constitution and Constitutional Conventions in Missouri," by Isidor Loeb; "The Constitution of 1820," by P. W. Lehmann; and "Missourians Abroad." The last named title covers a series to which W. A. Kelsoe contributes interestingly in this issue. His subject is Florence D. White, born and reared in St. Louis. Soon after graduation from the Christian Brothers' College Mr. White joined the editorial staff of the Post-Dispatch, where he made such rapid headway that in 1890 he became managing editor of the paper. Since 1896 he has been connected with the New York World, of which he is now the general manager. Mr. Kelsoe has skillfully sketched the career of this remarkably able newspaper man who, among other fine qualities of mind and heart, is kindly remembered here for his staunch loyalty to old friends.

HOW FANNIE HURST WORKS. With the publication of Fannie Hurst's latest studies of New York under the fitting title, "The Vertical City," it is interesting to find a straight-from-the-shoulder statement of her method of plot conception and writing. In an article which appears in a college paper, Miss Hurst describes to the students the making of her short stories: "I walk in Central Park, figuratively, with the character I wish to put in a story. Gradually the story weaves itself around that character until I have it all in mind, from Alpha to Omega. Then I do the first draft. It takes about 20 days to do the first seven or eight drafts, and then I am ready to whip it into something approaching its final form. I never start with a situation for the development of a story. It is always with a character. If there were but one thing I could leave with you it would be the word 'sincerity.' If one is sincere in the desire and in the working out of that desire, success is bound to be hers. It is the one quality that pervades all good work and without which no work is good work."

THE highest price ever paid for a single edition of any author's work was recorded when Gabriel Wells, a dealer in rare books, paid upward of $200,000 for a new definite de luxe edition of Mark Twain. The subject of auction bidding and all the conventions is covered thoroughly. It is a capital volume for beginners as well as for students of the game.

"CARAVANS BY NIGHT," by Harry Hervey. (The Century Co.)

POLITICAL intrigue, mystery, robbery, murder are always associated with stories of India. Such a tale is "Caravans by Night." In the words of the author, it was written "for those buccaners of the hearth, those pirates of the library lamp, who nightly thrive on the pursuit of a book." Such readers will surely find a full evening of enjoyment in this narrative, as will others who occasionally like to indulge in the pursuit of thieves and murderers and revel in a descriptive tale of a picturesque foreign country such as India.

An eminent writer of fiction said recently that there were only about a score of plots which provide a suitable background for an author's work. This story exemplifies one of the score and is therefore not unusual in the true sense of the word. But it is unusually well written, abounding in fantastic pictures of India, of which country the author evidently has a thorough knowledge, and the peculiar customs of her polyglot population.

The theft of an enormous amount of jewels from rajahs by a clever band whose purpose appears at first to be robbery merely for the sake of monetary gain, but subsequently proves to be for a far different purpose, the adventures of a physician drafted by the secret service of Britain to work on the case and of the other characters provide excellent reading. Also an operative of the same branch of service seems to be a worthy successor to Sherlock Holmes, Euan Kerth by name, he has the happy faculty of appearing at the psychological moment and making his entrance in a startling manner, usually behind a curtain. Ingenuity attributed to him and the manifold roles which he is called upon to assume makes of him a most interesting personage.

THE first work of Mr. Hervey in book form, though he has written many stories for magazines during the past few years. He is described by the publishers as being an American by birth, a native of Texas, but really a resident of the world.

GOOD story for boys about how a dog from the land of snow made good in the land of no snow.

THE OTHER MAGIC," by Grant Watson. (Alfred A. Knopf.)

SOUTH SEA tale of an unusual type, emphasizing native superstition, savagery and instability, and ending in tragedy. An Englishman alone in a native community so hostile that all his predecessors had lost their lives, has kept his foothold for years by identifying himself closely with native life and feeling. A break in the connection is fatal to him.

At the opening of the story the entering wedge has already appeared in the form of an uncompromising English missionary. The breach is widened by the engagement, at the missionary's advice, of an English housekeeper with a view to marriage. The carefully built-up structure of mutual esteem and trust between the natives and their guests breaks down and finally collapses in fire and blood.

The whole conflict is skillfully presented under the guise of a struggle between two "magics," that of the native witch-doctors and that of the Christian religion, represented by the missionary and the Englishwoman. The author holds the balance somewhat evenly between the two, and his hero vacillates. The reader feels that whole-hearted adherence either to one or to the other might have brought a different ending. Reason and emotion, influenced in part by long association, incline him to the native view, but racial feeling and sympathy pull him the other way.

To help with his atmosphere, the author has invoked the aid of occult forces and manifestations on both sides, giving the reader a naturalistic explanation for those favorable to the white man's magic, but letting the native "medicine" remain unelucidated. This will add to the indubitable power of the book with some readers and detract from it with others.

Those who care nothing for either one magic or "the other" will read the book for the beauty of its descriptions, which are unusually vivid and compelling and which set off the unearthly natural charm of the region against the equally unearthly though logical play of mind and emotion among its savage denizens. Among other things, the writer sets forth clearly a phase of the missionary question, although, with true modern indifference to solutions, he does not even venture to suggest one. ARTHUR E. BOSTWICK.

"LOST VALLEY," by Katherine Fullerton Gerould. (Harper & Brothers.)

As an essayist, Katherine Gerould has had no little charm, though running too recklessly close to the reefs of prolixity to give one entire confidence in her skill as a literary navigator. And the exacting form of the short story has shown that she has power even though her choice of subject has not cooled the interest. So with success behind her, it is not a matter of surprise that Mrs. Gerould should launch on the full length novel with confidence in herself to write rather a splendid story and in the whole-hearted approval of her public. But it must be reluctantly admitted that Mrs. Gerould's pleasant fame will hardly be enhanced by "Lost Valley." The elements of dramatic circumstance, contrasting characters and romantic appeal appear to be at the writer's command, but the story drags.

"Lost Valley" was once a lovely New England hamlet where the last of the Lockerbys and a few down-at-the-heels neighbors live, degenerate in qualities and deteriorated in fortune, having indeed little left of former luster but unreasoning pride. Madge Lockery, a strong, hard, handsome, ignorant girl, keeps the house for her hard-fisted and perverse-tempered uncle and her derelict grandmother. She cares for and idolizes her beautiful half-witted sister, Lola. To the farm comes an artist to paint Lost Valley for a wealthy client, who had once lived there, and Madge, of course, falls more or less in love with him, though not with the devastating passion that is usually meted out to us in similar, oft-told circumstances. The story does not follow the lines of the obvious. Lola follows away a handsome man and monkey, and Madge follows Lola, and so follow Madge through many diversions. The minor characters could all or any be dropped out with only the advantage of shortening the tale. Even Desmond Reilly, the prop to Madge's ultimate affection, is not vital. Madge never wins our sympathy or Lola our pity.

There is in short a lack of co-ordination between the plan of the story and its incidents.

"Lost Valley" has, in fact, a literary amorphousness that does not do justice to Mrs. Gerould's reputation, and one shall await her next long story sure that as soon as she really gets more at home with the material of a full length novel she will give us a story with more sensitive style and a more sympathetic welling of character and episode. "OUR WORLD, OR A SKETCH OF ORIGINS ACCORDING TO SCIENCE," by Charles Harvey Peck. (The Franklin Press.)

TO present the chief features of physical science from the origin of the earth to the evolution of the mind, it was quite an extensive undertaking to attempt to discuss so many divisions of science in so small a book as this one, and many of the chapters are not much more than brief topics on the subject. The author also attempted to place the subject matter of the book in not very technical language, and admirably succeeded.

In preparing a book of this kind the author was faced with the difficulty in choosing his materials from a great storehouse. Comic Phases are first given, then there are chapters on "In The Beginning," The Geologic Record, Ways and Means, Life, A Prehistoric Pedigree and Mind, and The Aggregate. What material there is in the several chapters is good, and it is to be regretted that some of the topics are not more fully discussed. The book was written to show that "evolution appears to be the key to the explanation of our world in all its phases," and we might be induced to believe that such is the fact from the evidence presented. L. McMASTER.

Exide BATTERIES

All of a sudden the city needs light

Next time it grows suddenly dark in the afternoon and you switch on the lights, think of the fact that thousands of other people are acting on the same impulse.

This unexpected demand is heavier than the generators in the central power stations of a great city can respond to instantly. The burden is, therefore, put on huge Exide Batteries, weighing hundreds of tons. Nearly all the central station batteries in America are Exides, which are relied upon to supply power through every emergency.

Wherever batteries are used—whether playing the calliope in the circus parade or propelling submerged submarines—you will find Exide supplying dependable power.

When you want a long-lasting battery in your car, that will give you ease of mind and freedom from trouble, go to the nearest Exide Service Station.

Davis J. Walsh of New York Sees Fifth Place or Better for Comiskey Derelicts.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, April 12.—Two weeks is quite an interval if you happen to spend it in jail or in a dentist's chair. Almost anything can happen in that time from a decision in a chess match to the payment of the tailor's bill.

It is therefore, nobody's particular business that the status of some of the major league ball clubs has altered during recent weeks; the fact is mentioned for the sake of giving credit where credit is due.

We do not refer to the potential pennant contenders. On the contrary, our observation concerns a pair of clubs we picked for the second division, to wit: the Brooklyn Dodgers in the National League and the Chicago White Sox in the American.

Both have uncovered unsuspected depths since venturing into the South. The Dodgers in eight out of 13 games with the Yanks, the Sox in holding the world's champion Giants to a six-all stand-off. Yet, Uncle Robbie has succumbed to custom and habit in once again bringing his pitching staff out of the South in grand conditions and figures to win many a ball game in the first six weeks of the season.

A young person named Andy High, brother of all the other Highs from Hingham on down the line, was outed to the Brooklyn infield from a defective standpoint and to date everything has been as sweet as a demure glance. The Dodgers may yet break into the first division.

Of the White Sox, that much cannot be expected. They are just coming up for air after the upheaval of 1919, but they are just good enough to go a long way if they get any kind of pitching.

Far from finishing last, as some of the boys would have it, they may step right along at the head of the second division, where they can nibble at the leaders from time to time. For times this spring, the Sox looked like a cool million, behind Faber, proving what good pitching will do for a ball club.

When Dick Kerr returns, as he eventually will do, and if Wilkinson, Hodge, Robertson or any one of the young pitchers come through, the White Sox will be no man's sap. The left side of the infield might be better, but otherwise the club is fool proof.

MISS SIGOURNEY LOSES IN NORTH-SOUTH EVENT

By the Associated Press.
PINEHURST, N. C., April 12.—Two surprises marked the play yesterday in the women's singles in the North and South tennis championship tournament here when Miss Martha Ray and of New Jersey defeated Miss Helen Gillespie of New York, 6-2, 6-3, and Miss Lillian Scherman of New York defeated Miss Edith Signourney of Boston, 6-2, 6-3, 6-3.

Miss Marion Zinderstein Jessup of Wilmington and Miss Florence Ralston of New York also entered the semifinals.

Eight teams advanced to the round before the final in the men's doubles. Real S. Wright and S. Howard Vissel, picked to win this event, won easily from J. W. Lattin and Paul Dana, 6-3, 6-2.

News of Opening Day Contests

BOSTON, April 12.—Perfect weather prevailed today when the Boston Red Sox met the Philadelphia Athletics in the opening game of the season at Fenway Park today. Manager Hugh Duffy selected the veteran Jack Quinn to pitch, and the Sox, who were home for the first time since Connie Mack of the Athletics was still doubtful about his choice for the opening pitching assignment, met. Hasty probably will get the job. Both teams have a lot of strangers in the lines owing to winter trades.

Killefer to Use Rookie.
CINCINNATI, April 12.—Charles Harnett, a "k" catcher who is hailed as a coming star, will start the slants of Grover Alexander of the Cubs in the opening game with the Reds this afternoon. But only after close contests. Douglass and Neph are expected to start for the Reds. Weather conditions were none too good, but the game has been sold and 25,000 persons are expected to witness the clash.

Medows to Face Coachers.
PHILADELPHIA, April 12.—The 1922 baseball season will be ushered in this afternoon when the Phillies meet the Boston Braves. Lee Meadows, pitching ace of the Phillies, and Hendline probably will line up against Joe Coachers and Hank Gowdy. The weather is cool and cloudy.

Pitch Out of Opening.
By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, April 12.—Warm weather, but overcast skies, ushered in the baseball season of 1922 here today, with the Giants and Brooklyn rivals at the Polo Grounds.

Douglass or Neph were the pitchers considered as most likely to face the barrier for the Giants, while "Dutch" Ruether, was looked upon as the hurler for the Brooklyn.

New York was without the services of Fritch, second baseman, who was sent home from the South with an infected foot, but his place was taken by Hawkins.

All Cardinal Games to Begin at 3:15 This Year

SECRETARY CLARENCE LLOYD of the Cardinals announced that the starting time of 2:15 o'clock for the opening game today would be maintained for all games, including those of Saturday and Sunday, until further notice by the club.

Lloyd said that it was the desire of the club to have all games start at the same time in order to remove the inconvenience to the public that resulted in varied starting times for Saturday, Sunday and week-day games.

Whalen to Battle Bud McHale Again

Bout Is Arranged as Semi-Weight-up to Young Denny-Fitzsimmons Feature.

"Bud" McHale and "Grub" Whalen, welterweights, will meet in their third bout in the semifinals of the boxing show to be staged by the Business Men's Athletic Association at the Armory Monday next. Young Denny of New Orleans and Young Fitzsimmons of Oklahoma City will meet in the main event as previously announced.

In their previous bouts, McHale and Whalen have each gained a verdict. Both are hard hitters.

Paul Barabara and Bobby Weiss, St. Louisans, will meet in 135 pounds in the four-round preliminary.

On board in the champion's dressing room during the morning, he held a going-away jubilee. Jack was surrounded by friends and was given a red-topped magnifying glass.

He did say, did Jack, as how it was just the old world, but the guests did smack their lips and winked. Dempsey's one fear seemed to be that some of his friends would be away from the ship by the police line.

Dempsey was elated over the ship's gymnasium, as fine a one as you will find in the best clubs in the world.

MRS. MALLORY MAY MEET MLE. SUZANNE LENGLEN IN WIMBLEDON TOURNAMENT

Mrs. Molla Bleskett Mallory, woman's national tennis champion, will sail for England on May 16 and will once more compete in the British championships for women to be held at Wimbledon. It is altogether possible that, in the course of that tournament, she will meet Miss Suzanne Lenglen, holder of the British title, whom she defeated in the sensational match at Forest Hills last summer. Miss Lenglen has recently returned to competition in singles, playing in the Cannes tournament. According to a report from Boston, Miss Eleanor Sears, who is in southern France, has written to friends that Miss Lenglen appears to be in excellent physical condition.

Press and the French girl has stated that, if physically fit, she would defend her title at Wimbledon. If Mrs. Mallory and Miss Lenglen are able to renew their rivalry, their meeting will undoubtedly excite unprecedented interest in England.

It is probable that Miss Edith Signourney of Boston will accompany Mrs. Mallory as she did last season.

FAVORITES HAVE HARD NET MATCHES IN NORTH AND SOUTH TOURNAMENT

By the Associated Press.
PINEHURST, N. C., April 12.—Play was resumed today in the third round of the men's North and South tennis championship tournament with favorites playing but only after close contests.

S. Howard Vissel defeated P. C. Baggett, 6-2, 6-3, 6-3. Sam H. Wright won from H. D. Bidwell, 9-7, 6-2, and G. C. Shaffer won from J. D. E. Jones by default.

R. W. Seaburg dropped the first set of his match to I. E. Hall and then winning by scores of 2-6, 6-0, 6-3.

SEMIPRO CLUB OFFERS 'BABE' RUTH $100,000; MANAGER DRAWS LAUGH

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, April 12.—"Babe" Ruth, suspended for 35 days, has been offered $100,000 if he will join a local semiprofessional team, the association manager at a meeting of his association last night announced. He drew a laugh.

A call for cold facts produced a document from the manager of the City Hall team in the Midwest League, showing that he had signed Dick Kerr, former Chicago American pitcher.

Half of World's Tennis Stars in U. S., Briton Says

London Authority, in Ranking First Twenty, Puts Japanese Fourth.

LONDON, April 12.—Half of the world's best lawn tennis players are Americans according to selections made by A. Wallis Myers, an English expert, who accompanied the English Davis cup team to the United States in 1921. Mr. Myers includes four men and six women hailing from the United States in his recently published two "First Tens."

The expert's comment on American women players is especially noteworthy in view of the fact that this is the first time he has included selection of a women's "First Ten" in his annual review and that he gives the United States a majority place.

Mr. Myers places Mrs. Mallory, the American champion, who won over Suzanne Lenglen in America last year, second to the French champion, and the other eight leaders as follows: Miss Mary K. Browne (United States), Miss E. Ryan (United States), Miss K. McKane (England), Mrs. May Sutton Bundy (United States), Mrs. Peacock (India), Mrs. Beamish (England), Miss Eleanor Goss (United States), and Mrs. J. E. Jessup (United States).

Japan is Ranked Fourth. The "first ten" among men is headed in order by W. T. Tilden, M. Johnston and Vincent Richards. Mr. Myers thinks their position at the top of the list is "abundantly justified."

R. N. Williams is placed ninth, while the remaining six are: Fourth, Z. Shimidzu (Japan); fifth, G. L. Patterson (Australia); seventh, B. I. C. Norton (South Africa); eighth, M. Alonso (Spain), and tenth, A. H. Gobert (France).

Noting that Richards enters the first ten for the first time, the writer adds: "If Richards had a sounder constitution one might confidently predict for him a more dazzling career even than Tilden's."

Greb, Despite Victory, Still Far From Match With Dempsey

Champion Recently Said Harry Probably Would Give Him a Lot of Trouble, but Difference in Size Prevents Arrangement Being Made.

By Robert Edgren.
(Copyright, 1922.)

Harry Greb is out of luck. Although he gave Tom Gibbons a beautiful trimming in their 15-round fight in Madison Square Garden, he seems no nearer accomplishing his ambition, which is to fight Dempsey for the heavyweight title.

Of course Greb is a little bit of a fellow compared with Dempsey. But he's powerfully built, very fast, and full of grit and stamina. Before Greb fought Gibbons, Dempsey was asked what fighter he thought would give him the most trouble.

"Greb," he said. "He's a busy bee. He's stinging all the time." The way Greb handled Tom Gibbons, the man with the knockout record, made it look as if Dempsey knew something.

Sharkey was a Tough Bird. Jim Jeffries told me last week that of all the men he ever fought, Tom Sharkey gave him the most trouble, although Fitzsimmons hurt him more than anyone else.

Tom was so blamed fast, and always tearing in, that it was hard to do anything with him. Punches didn't hurt him and the only way to beat him was to keep on hammering every minute," said Jeff.

Joe Choynski probably had a lot of respect for Joe Walcott, who was only 5 feet 1 inch tall when he knocked Joe out.

Jack Likes the Big Ones. "I like to fight these giants like Morris and Fulton and Willard," Dempsey told me recently. "They're big and slow and it's a cinch to hit them before they can hit me."

Bob Fitzsimmons weighed only 158 pounds stripped when he knocked out Jim Corbett and became world's heavyweight champion. But Bob was a physical freak—a man with all his fighting weight above the waist and distributed for hitting power.

Greb weighed 163½ pounds fighting Gibbons. According to the standard established by Walcott, Fitzsimmons, Sharkey and a lot of other comparatively small men who fought the giants of their time, he's big enough to have a chance to win the heavyweight title, at least by outpointing the champion in a 15-round bout.

Wind and Muddy Tracks Hamper Derby Tryouts

Deadlock, R. H. Shannon's Entry, Makes Impressive Showing.

CHATTERTON OUT OF LUCK

Entry, Which Recently Underwent Operation Affected by High Wind.

By C. S. Reinhart,
Kentucky Racing Authority for the Post-Dispatch.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 12.—Deep mud and a 30-mile wind held the Derby tryouts at the Churchill Downs track today. The Kentucky Derby, which is the most important race in the country, was postponed until tomorrow. The race was scheduled for today, but the weather was too bad. The track was very muddy and the wind was too strong. The race was postponed until tomorrow, when the weather is expected to be better.

Weather Hampers Trials.
The trainers of the Derby horses were unfortunate in having work day for their charges fall due yesterday, as they had to combat the worst climatic and track conditions of the spring season to date. The two tracks were given a thorough dressing during the early hours of the morning and heavy wind proved a more serious drawback than the mud. The thoroughbreds had to run fast against it through the stretch.

The National and the first four in the American have royal chances. Good breaks in physical condition, early stride and lack of accidents might take any one of them to the front. It must be said, however, that everything else being equal.

However, this factor could not be worse than last year, when the team in spite of it, finished third and seemed the best club in the country during the closing weeks of the campaign. The Cardinals have a whole of a punch, as good an infield as there is in baseball and the prospect of an improved pitching staff. If big Jeff Pfeffer has an average season, if Willie Davis can come through as he did last year, if Steve Carrigan shows improvement, if Bill Petteca can be kept in check, and if Marvin Gooden regains his ancient form, Mr. McGraw will make a wonderful study for "When a feller needs a friend." In fact, while it is not a probability, there is almost as good a chance the world's championship will be played entirely in St. Louis, as in New York next October.

And just our luck! It's only a seven-game series this year! Oh, Keeper! Here he is!

Other Teams Are Factors.
It is only fair to state that outside of New York, the Cardinals have to dispose of Pittsburgh, Boston and Brooklyn, and the Browns of Washington and Cleveland.

It sounds simple, but, worse fortune, all these teams have husky candidates who can come through with the good breaks in their favor. Washington appears stronger than last year and Cleveland no weaker. It is therefore up to the Browns to show genuine improvement, since last year two of the clubs finished ahead of them.

The second division appears off color in both leagues. Boston in the American League can await, but if it has a pitcher who can get by, it will pay you to point him out. Then he'll sell him.

Connie Mack, after eight years, has the best chance of all to emerge from the cellar, into which he ducked in after the cyclone of 1914. Those White Sox, with Urban Faber in the points, look like first division, with any other remaining hurler out they look like—well, there are limits to how confidential we may become.

The Tigers still have Ty and that is something not to be despised. Still a fearless and fearless Bengal puts few hunters on the run.

The Chicago club of the National will be knocking at the other league's door, on which another Philadelphia club has had an option for some time. However, it has no title in fee simple and the Cubs are still eligible.

Old Miracle Man Pat Moran, of the rubicund fowl and fish-gray eye, who lifted two rickety mounts over the championship hurdles by sheer personality and a great pitcher or two, this year has everything he had then except the great pitcher—even to a stay holdout. If Cincinnati rises out of sixth place that will be miracle enough for Pat to perform.

The Boston Braves will attend to Pat's case—and perhaps to several other instances of cranial elephantiasis at present existing in the erstwhile "grandma league."

Call her grandma no more. She has discarded her knitting, cut off her skirts and bobbed her hair; and if you don't look at her ace in the spalding baseball Korea, the dear old lady looks like a flapper.

Eastern Experts Pick New York As Scene of Next World's Series, But St. Louis May Surprise Them

Mound City Clubs Start Campaign Better Equipped to Win Pennants Than in More Than 30 Years—Success of Both Clubs Will Be Strictly Up to the Pitching.

By John E. Wray
Sports Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

One of the unfortunate features of the 1922 major league baseball season, which we have with us today, is the apparent utter uselessness of playing out the schedule. We have it on the authority of not less than 25 copper-riveted cinch baseball prognosticators that a coal barge has quite as good a chance to outstrip Miss Minneapolis, as seven teams in each league have to pass the New York entries.

Just as sure as your office boy's grandmother is going to need a burial permit, the Yankees and the Giants are going to battle for the world's championship again, we are told. Yes, and there are those who go so far as to predict that the Yankees will win the 1923 world's title from the Giants, reversing the verdict of last season.

Not less than 50 persons authorized by 25 cards of the Baseball Writers' Association to purvey 18-k horoscopes have made it unanimous that New York is a galvanized cinch—either New York that you wish to choose. Besides the Yanks and the Giants the American eagle is a migratory bird; and betting on Morvich's Derby chance is a wild hazard.

But one can take heart in the history of the past, which shows that the sport prognosticator doesn't ring bull's-eyes more than 50-50, and that of these, the baseball sharpshooters least often find the mark.

Composite metropolitan opinion as to the 1922 races indicates the following standings in the two leagues at the close of the campaigns:

- | AMERICAN. | NATIONAL. |
|---------------|-----------------|
| 1—Yankees. | 1—New York. |
| 2—Cleveland. | 2—Pittsburgh. |
| 3—Washington. | 3—Cardinals. |
| 4—Browns. | 4—Brooklyn. |
| 5—Boston. | 5—Boston. |
| 6—Detroit. | 6—Cincinnati. |
| 7—Chicago. | 7—Chicago. |
| 8—Athletics. | 8—Philadelphia. |

Nevertheless, the fact is that, while the New York teams apparently have the best of the situation in personnel and proven merit, there is no such thing as a certainty for them. In fact, the baseball races this year appear at this time more like a battle royal than ever, and the 2-to-1 price alleged to be quoted against either New York team is probably a myth.

The Cardinals have a whole of a punch, as good an infield as there is in baseball and the prospect of an improved pitching staff. If big Jeff Pfeffer has an average season, if Willie Davis can come through as he did last year, if Steve Carrigan shows improvement, if Bill Petteca can be kept in check, and if Marvin Gooden regains his ancient form, Mr. McGraw will make a wonderful study for "When a feller needs a friend." NORMAN, Ok., April 12.—The tennis team of the University of Oklahoma took the lead here yesterday in the two-day tourney with the University of Texas, winning two out of three matches.

Peters to Race In Roller Final

St. Louis Skater Wins Right to Compete Against World's Champion.

Rodney Peters of St. Louis won the right to compete in the two-mile championship race of the National League of Roller Skaters, to be held here Monday night, by winning the semifinal heat at the Paladium rink last night from a field of nine starters. His time for the two miles was 6m. 10s. 20a. Roland Clont, winner of the Chicago meet of last week, will arrive in St. Louis tonight to compete in the races here.

FRENCH FEATHERWEIGHT WILL COME TO AMERICA TO CHALLENGE KILBANE

Criqui, champion French featherweight, will come to America in September to seek a match with Johnny Kilbane, world title holder in his division, according to dispatches from Paris.

HARVARD TO IMPROVE SOLDIERS FIELD AT OUTLAY OF $100,000

Soldiers Field, the playground of Harvard University, will be improved this spring and summer by the expenditure of $100,000 by the Harvard Athletic Association. It is planned to drain and fill the ground inside the new running track and prepare it for use as a gridiron next fall. A line of tennis courts also will be constructed along the southern part of the new running track. Among other improvements, 25 acres of swampland in the northwestern part of Soldiers Field will be reclaimed by draining and filling to make it suitable for athletic purposes.

Seaver Is Low Medalist.

LOS ANGELES, April 12.—Ernest H. Seaver of Los Angeles turned in a card of 72 in the first half of the qualifying round of the Southern California Amateur Open Golf championship over the Flint Ridge course, which proved the lowest of the day. Seaver, who won the championship in 1920, has as his closest competitors Laurens Upson of Sacramento and George Von Elm of Salt Lake City. Transmississippi amateur champion, each of whom made the round in 74, Jack Nevill of San Francisco, former State champion, and Hugh Haisell, Los Angeles, came next with 75 each.

THE OPENER.

HIP, hip, hurrah, likewise hooray! The season opens up today with fancy fielding stunts and batting rallies. We'll smile the Pirates hip and flank And make them toddle down the plank And drown them in a tidal wave of tallies.

OUR HIGH FLYERS.

If fine feathers make fine birds the Cardinals will soon be winging their flight to pennantville. The Cardinals lost the spring series to the Browns, but they hope to get their revenge in the world's series.

Webster Groves Loses Suit Over Joint Taxes.

Headline. But the benchwrecks might be deciding factors. Johnny Kilbane is looking for a match in England. But next to heaven there are more matches made in Switzerland than anywhere else.

TIP US OFF.

It is said that 60,000 people in St. Louis are dodging the State income tax. Wonder how it is done.

The big profits on an ordinary safety razor are in the dozens of blades they sell you

FIVE or six dozen blades a year—that's what manufacturers of ordinary safety razors count on your buying. Many a man uses up as many as ten or twelve dozen blades a year.

It's this constant stream of blades that represents the big profits on ordinary safety razors. Some razor manufacturers could almost afford to give you the razor free.

Are you spending $5 or $10 a year on blades—and without getting that new keen edge you want for every shave?

Here's a way out: the Valet AutoStrop Razor sharpens its own blades on its straight leather strop. A solid year of smooth clean shaves are guaranteed from every package of ten blades. Just a few strokes on the strop give you a new keen edge for every shave. Stropps, shaves and cleans without removing even the blade.

Get one of the remarkable new $1.00 models of the Valet AutoStrop Razor at your dealer's today. Start now saving money and getting real shaving comfort.

"Listen In" on the AIR'S WONDERS—Install a FREE "Jewel" in Your Home
Radio is truly "The Newest Marvel of This Marvelous Age." You can sit at home and listen to informative, instructive and entertaining programs broadcast through the air. You can receive bulletins, vocal and instrumental concerts, weather forecasts, market reports, time signals, etc.

Description of the Free "Jewel" Radiophone Receiving Set

No taps, continuous wave length variation. Equipped with tuning coil of latest and most scientific design. Good substantial cabinet, bakelite panel, bevel and graduated dial, sensitive and permanent crystal adjustment. No batteries required and no maintenance cost. Everything complete.

The head set consists of two receiving phones, 2400 ohm resistance, navy type.

Quite as important as the tuning coil are the phones. Those with the "Jewel" are exceptionally sensitive, being the same make as those in use in the Post-Dispatch station K S D for receiving.

The "Jewel" is rated as a 50-mile instrument, and under favorable atmospheric conditions will receive radio signals from that distance. It is only recommended, however, at this time of the year, for St. Louis and suburbs. Tests have shown that the "Jewel" picks up Post-Dispatch radio programs clearly and distinctly.

Complete instructions for installation and operation with each set. Briefly, it is the finest and most sensitive and compact Radiophone of its type.

The outfit, as we will deliver it to you, will include tuning coil in handsome, polished cabinet, head set, consisting of two receiving phones and instructions. It will not include wire or insulation for antenna or "ground"—which may be obtained at nominal cost.

BETWEEN YOU AND ME

By Sophie Irene Loeb

ONE MAN FOR ONE WOMAN

"The World Is Full of Lonely People Who Go Through Life on the Memory of a Dead Past, but Many People Love More Than Once, and Equally Well More Than Once."

STORIES and editorials have been written about the love bird who died coming over on a steamer a few days ago because its mate had died a few hours before.

And how we do like to think about such devotion. Some time ago I read a story called "The Wagoner" in which the author likened the human to the wild goose, which only has one mate and never takes on another after that one dies. The idea of the author was to prove that this was a noble example.

It sounds good—One Man for One Woman. Volumes have been written about it and some people believe it. Yet had you heard the discussion of a group of men and women the other night, you would have realized that not only is truth stranger than fiction, but stronger.

There was the man whose wife had died and whose memory he adored, but who would want to go on living if he thought that he would some day, some time, find another great love.

There were the engaged people who could not possibly think of anything else but one man for one woman. And there was the man who thought he married "the one woman" and found she wasn't the only one.

Oh, yes, we all want to believe in the big thing that never dies, but it is as rare as radium.

Between you and me, it is not done these days. We might as well be frank about it. Speed the day when such an ideal condition will come, but it is not here yet.

And the sad part of it is that so many people actually starve themselves to death from want of love, because they believe this theory, which always explodes if you give it half a chance.

The fact is the Lord did not make a human being and then throw the mold away. There are many men and women very much alike, and if they have not the same qualities and the same appeal as some dear loved one, whom one has lost, they have others that are equally attractive and desirable.

And this article is really written for those who have loved and lost and to give assurance that they can love again.

The world is full of lonely people who go through life on the memory of a dead past. They look at the world passing before them with unseeing eyes. Then there are those who are tied to someone whom they do not love and think that life is all over for them because they have made the wrong selection.

The whole thing may be summed up in the way a friend of mine, Jack London, once put it. He said: "I believe when the Creator made us He gave to man a number and to the one woman the number would love a corresponding number. But alas! in the sea of life, these numbers often get mixed up, and we find ourselves with a good or bad substitute."

Many, many people love more than once, and equally well more than once. It sounds romantic to have the one love of your life. My sentimental reader will not agree with me when I say that in common parlance, given "the time, the place and the girl" love can be called forth from the heart of the human, in equal measure more than once—yes, twice or thrice.

You may love one person for a great many reasons, and yet you may love another equally well for different reasons.

Ab, yes, there are as good fish in the sea as ever were caught, and hope is eternal in the heart of him who seeks love. He will find it as sure as the moon rises. If you don't believe it, just look around at your own friends and acquaintances.

There is the man who has been so deliciously happy with his wife that he wants to throw himself in her grave at her funeral, but a year afterward finds solace in No. 2.

There is the young woman who has been looked upon as a young god, but old Father Time takes a hand and she looks back at the "only-one" as a fortunate escape.

There is the young couple that seems to have everything in the world with which to begin life—an ideal pair, you say—and you wake up some morning to hear her tell how brutal he has been to her and how mistaken she was.

And finally, if you want further proof, go into the Domestic Relations Court and hear them wrangling about money, which was the last thing they thought about when the preacher looked over them and made them one.

And needless to tell about the divorce courts that are working overtime to break the bonds that were so eagerly sought.

Yet there is a ray of sunshine in all of it. The mistakes of the generation will profit that of tomorrow. They will make marriage more difficult, and divorce less disagreeable.

People will not hasten into marriage because on a moonlight Wednesday she looked rather pretty, or somewhere in a jazz room he told her he was tired of calling for her.

No, people won't marry so early. They will wait. The scheme of things has changed. The term "old maid" has lost its sting. The self-proclaimed bachelor girl doesn't have to choose the first man that comes along for fear of being relegated to a rear parlor and designated as the maiden.

She has her weekly pay envelope and is comforted with her own lachrymose snuggly next to her powder puff. She marries the man she wants, a matter of choice rather than chance or charity—and vice versa.

Oh, yes, there is more than one man for one woman, but there is safety only in having one at a time.

CINNAMON PIE

LINE a pie-plate with good rich pie dough and spread a layer of apple jelly in the bottom. Cream together a half cupful of butter with the salt washed out of it, and add two well-beaten eggs, a tablespoonful of cream and a cupful of sifted flour with a teaspoonful of cinnamon and baking powder mixed. Mix well, then turn over the jelly and bake in a moderate oven for about 30 minutes. Decorate with whipped cream roses put through the pastry tube.

UNCOMMON SENSE

SELLING YOURSELF SHORT.

By JOHN BLAKE.

TO a young man complaining that he was underpaid for the work he was doing a corporation official said:

"It is better for you if this company thinks that you are not getting enough than if it thinks you are getting too much. If you are underpaid now you will be adequately paid by and by. If you are overpaid you will soon be out of a job."

The man who is continually seeking higher pay, irrespective of whether he is earning it or not, sometimes gets it, but he seldom keeps it.

He is selling himself short, which, in stock-market language, means selling something he hasn't got.

And as soon as his employer discovers that he hasn't got it, there is a change in the occupant of the position.

Constantly men whose reputations are not backed up by ability sell their services to concerns for more than they are worth.

Just as constantly these men are being invited to get off the payroll they have been overloading.

The best way toicker for a raise of pay is to make yourself so valuable that the employer cannot afford to refuse you a raise of pay. Continually trying to sell yourself short will only earn you a reputation for chronic dissatisfaction. And if by a miracle you should get it, it will not last very long.

Twenty years ago a newspaper proprietor hired a man from another newspaper to work for him.

"What pay do you want?" he asked when the man agreed to come.

"Half what you paid the man who had the place before me."

"But that is ridiculous. You are worth more."

"I think I am. But I don't know. And neither do you. If I prove I am worth more I will get it."

Within six months the new man was getting twice as much as the former employee.

Sell what ability you have for what you know it is worth. Don't try, in advance, to get more. Once you have sold yourself short your clew is gone. Employees are looking only for men who can deliver.

POULTICES AND PLASTERS.

POULTICES are a good, old-fashioned method of applying moist heat to inflamed surfaces. There is an art in making poultices. Boiling water is poured on ground seed or meal until the mixture can be spread on lint or muslin. A soft old handkerchief is laid over the painful spot, which is then covered with the hot poultice and the whole well covered with some nonheat conducting material, like flannel, or oiled silk, so that the heat will be retained as long as possible. The cloth on which the poultice is spread must be large enough to tuck under all around, so that nothing escapes to get on the patient or the clothing. A second poultice is prepared and kept hot on a hot plate or other means before the one in use is removed. Otherwise the application of heat is interrupted and the treatment is worse than useless.

Charcoal poultices are sometimes ordered in cases of conditions that result from neglect or gangrene. To make them, powdered charcoal and ground flaxseed are used in equal parts and the poultice made in the usual way; free charcoal is first sprinkled directly over the part to be deodorized, and the poultice is then applied directly on it, no cloth intervening, as advised above.

When bread is used, stale is preferable. It is soaked a little in boiling water and made into mush. Besides poultices, counter-irritation is largely prescribed by the physician to counteract inflamed conditions.

Mustard plasters are used to produce a form of counter-irritation, but blisters are a speedier means of insuring the desired result.

Plasters of cantharides are applied directly to the skin, which must first be carefully cleaned with soap and water, then washed off with vinegar.

The plaster is cut the size advised by the physician and allowed to remain on from four to eight hours; six hours is the rule required to draw a full blister. The plaster is then removed and the fluid carefully drained by pricking the blister at its most dependent part with a sharp needle that has been run through a flame several times to make it germ free. A little absorbent cotton or antiseptic lint is held directly under the blister to catch the fluid. If care is taken, the skin will not be broken and the blisters will heal beautifully in a short time.

If covered with mild boric acid solution, the blisters will heal more quickly. However, these methods are not observed, a raw surface, which sometimes becomes infected with pus germs, results. These small blisters are used over painful neuritic nerves, over the chest in cases of pleurisy, pneumonia, etc.

Cantharides should never be applied in cases of lumbago and other painful conditions in the lower part of the back, as it affects the kidneys and is likely to set up considerable mischief there.

Blisters should never be put over bony surfaces that are near the skin, as an ulcer might form that would expose the bone. In adults whose vitality is low, and in children, plasters should not be allowed to remain on so long as in the case of the more robust, as they form blisters much quicker.

THE SECRET OF "INDIVIDUALITY IN DRESS"

The Real Secret of Dressing in an Individual Manner Is to Dress in the Clothes That You Yourself Actually Like.

By MARGERY WELLS.

THERE is a lot of talk going around about individuality in dressing. But I find that almost everyone who comes to me to ask about clothes and how to wear them has a very dim and hazy idea of what individuality really is. "It is one thing to dress in an individual manner and quite another thing to dress in a freakish manner."

Most people who hear "individuality in dress" advanced as a modern standard, immediately decide that freakishness is necessary.

Now a freak dresser can be an individual dresser, but certainly not the American woman with American ideals there is no need to be freakish. In fact, she is distinctly missing her point if she does dress in a freakish way.

She can be individual and extremely good looking at the same time.

Foreign women, who are experts at dressing, come to this country for the first time to hold up their hands in despair. They say, "but your women all dress alike. We walk along your smartest thoroughfares only to see one girl after another looking just the same."

And they are right about this. You don't realize it until you go abroad and come back again. Then you see that while we are exceptionally well dressed we really haven't a great deal of originality about our clothes.

The reason for this is probably that our American woman is anxious to have the approval of her neighbors and since our standards as a mass are particularly good, from an artistic standpoint, our neighbors are apt to approve of very commonplace things.

Now I should like to start a club of American women to further the education of her neighbors along artistic lines rather than cater so strenuously to their lack of it. We are extremely well founded in arithmetic and history, but we don't know a great deal about the artistic possibilities of dress, and if we did know more we might be much happier in our clothes.

The real secret of dressing in an individual manner is to dress in the clothes that you yourself actually like. But have you ever stopped to realize that you are not exactly sure what it is you really do like. Your opinions are so often ruled by something which you have inherited from your father, like or dislikes—what your friend or your beau likes.

It is a very interesting thing about beauty, but I have noticed that if you really like a thing yourself, and are sure you like it, the beau is apt to like it, too. On the other hand, if you are wobbly in your own opinion, if you are looking for him to encourage you about a dress which does not quite suit you, then don't make any mistake; he will turn up his nose. Your standards, if they are real standards, are going to affect him more than anything else in the world.

It sounds like a strange utterance to make, but it is really true that you can be individual even when you dress like everybody else. That is—you may wear a suit, if a suit is your best style, and succeed in looking so much an individual that it never occurs to any observer to suggest that you might be wearing something exactly like your friend's.

On the contrary, if a suit is not your best style, and you are wearing a dress to carry out your own character—then of course you will sink into the background and become as nothing at all in the realm of individuality.

This whole idea of individuality is a new one in this country—that is why there is so much talk and agitation about it. But, in France, where their dress girls have always made their dress their chief study and interest in life, they have known for generations the meaning of the word and how to express it to the last degree of its possibilities.

A French girl knows her individual style just as certainly as she knows her own name. And she would no more think of diverging from her own adopted standard than she would think of changing her name suddenly from Mary Jones to Mary Smith. She knows the sort of hat that suits her type best and when a new season comes along she makes her appearance at her milliner's with due regularity only to demand some more hats made, generally speaking, as her last hats were made. A French girl who has loads of money to spend upon her clothes recognizes her own individuality to such an extent that she spends the money on many hats of one style made in different colors and many materials. But she would as lief commit suicide as to consider the alteration of the general outline of that head covering. She knows no dictates of seasons. She only knows her own style and upon that point, with the help of expert dressmakers and milliners, she concentrates all of her attention until she knows positively that she has a finished fashion product in which she can justly take pride.

I know one American girl who is always extremely well dressed and yet she wears nothing at any time, except evening, but a coat and skirt with a soft shirtwaist. "Why," she says, "should I change this regalia when I know so certainly that it is making me look my best? Why, then, I put on anything else I feel like a duck out of water, and no one seems to notice that I am present on the landscape."

I know another American girl who turns up her nose at the mere mention of a suit. She insists upon wearing always and without interruption the one-piece dress without the least suggestion of trimming and with short sleeves fitting her arms quite tightly. She has these in all colors and in all materials, and she glories in the wearing of them. She has a different tone for every mood, and in the twinkling of an eye one dress is flipped away over her head and another one takes its place by the same simple process.

Still another girl wears always a pleated skirt with some loosely fitting top. She does it in the one-piece manner. She keeps her skirts, white or black, and wears all bright and dull colors with them. But she wears the pleats because she is inclined to be big about the hips, and she resents any necessity of wearing corsets.

You can all do it if you want to, and the process only requires keeping your mind on expressing yourself, refusing thereby to wear anything which does not honestly please you.

No. 93—Breaking Wood With Paper.

ASK someone to hold a few small bits of wood between his hands. Take a number of loose paper strips and state that you will break the twigs with the paper. Hold the strips in the right hand and bring them down against the twigs several times—suddenly, your last downward stroke will break the bits of wood.

The twigs are really broken, but not by the paper. As you make the last downward stroke, quickly extend your forefinger underneath the paper strips. The forefinger strikes the twigs and is responsible for their destruction.

Winsome and Mrs. Bluebird Start Housekeeping

By Thornton W. Burgess

When you're gladness make it known; 'Twas not meant for you alone.

Winsome Bluebird.

MRS. BLUEBIRD had fully made up her mind. She had chosen one of those new houses in the Old Orchard. Winsome Bluebird had nothing to say about it. But if Mrs. Bluebird was satisfied Winsome was also satisfied. Once he had ventured to say, "Don't you think, my dear, that it would be just as well to look somewhere else before we decide?"

"No, I don't," replied Mrs. Bluebird sharply. "We might look all summer, but we wouldn't find a better home than this will be when we have built a nest in it. Now get busy right away. What are you sitting around whistling for? Go hunt for some nice soft, dead grass. I think we can raise two families in this house this year, and perhaps three. Dear me, dear me, why don't you hunt for that grass instead of sitting around?"

"All right, my dear," replied Winsome.

some. "All right, my dear, I'm going." He did start, but apparently he forgot what he had started for. Instead of hunting for soft, dead grass he flew over to a fence post and whistled. The truth is his heart was so full of joy that he just had to tell all about it. But Mrs. Bluebird wasted no time. She would fly down in the grass, pick out some to suit her, then fly back to the new house. For just a second she would sit on that perch because it pleased her so; it was placed just right. Then she would disappear inside the house and there she would arrange that grass to suit herself. In such a fine house she intended to have the finest nest she could build.

Presently Winsome remembered

what he had been sent for. He flew up a couple of blades of dead grass and flew over to the new house, too, tried the new perch and it so well that he felt that he just had to whistle. But whistling a mouth full of grass isn't what Winsome dropped the grass. "Stupid! stupid!" he said. "Winsome, who had seen the grass, said, 'If you can't do anything, go off somewhere and get some of the grass. But don't get in my way!'"

Winsome looked a little ashamed and this time he really did what he was sent for. He came to a fence post and set where it will come to a boil. Do not while he kept very busy. He tried to weave it into that nest, but he knew better than to attempt anything of that kind. He knew no matter how hard he might try, he couldn't possibly do it to suit Mrs. Bluebird, and that was what all that he did. So he was content to bring the material and let her do the rest.

But the joy of spring was in Mrs. Bluebird's heart and he couldn't long at a time. He had just to tell all the Old Orchard how he was. He pretended that he was Mrs. Bluebird, and pretended like the good housekeeper who meant to have that house as good as new as possible, and worked and worked while Winsome whistled.

Mrs. Winsome was more and more pleased with that house. When she had time to talk at all she said of nothing else. "We are going to have the finest nest in the Old Orchard."

Now to stop whistling and get some more grass. With Mrs. Bluebird went to look for her herself.

MY FAVORITE STORIES

By IRVIN S. COBB

(One of a series of short funny stories by the celebrated American humorist which appear daily in the Post-Dispatch on this page.)

WHAT IT MEANT IN ENGLISH.

A CERTAIN newspaper man in New York is fond of gathering up stories of metropolitan life. He loves to prattle about the foreign quarters studying the ways of the aliens who make up so large a proportion of the population of Manhattan Island.

Once upon a time a Russian who furnishes him with tips on doings among his own people, brought word of a big wedding celebration that was going to take place in one of the Russian colonies over near the East River. The journalist expressed a desire to attend the festivities.

"Dass is easy," said his friend, "so you get a hajjek."
"A hajjek, eh?" said the puzzled journalist. "But, you see, I don't even know the couple. Why should they send me an invitation?"
"No, no!" said the Russian; "nod an invitation—a hajjek! So you get a hajjek, you go by the wedding; you dance mit the bride; you hat a fine time!"

"Say," demanded the puzzled American, "how in thunder do I get one of those hajjeks?"
"My friend," said the Russian, "listen! You go by the hall where is the wedding. You go in. You git your hat to the boy und for 50 cents you buy a hajjek—und there you are!"
So the newspaper man spent half a dollar on a hat check and danced with the bride.

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

By James J. Montague.

TWO DREAMS.

Last year I dreamed a golden dream
Of gardens bright and fair;
Of sunshine, in a radiant stream,
That warmed the summer air;
Of tender, growing shoots, that gleamed
Where rain-wet sods divided—
But ah! a knavish cut-worm dreamed
The self-same dream that I did.

I sat beside the fire'side glow
And puffed a cigarette.
He lay beneath the drifted snow
(I trust) both cold and wet.
And while we heard the blizzards sing
Through months of winter weather,
We waited for the coming spring,
And dreamed our dreams together.

And when the fire'side glow changed
Upon the burnished dove,
When glad returning robins sang
The woods with songs of love,
I turned the matted garden sod
My youth and health renewing.
And he peered out behind a cloud
To see what I was doing.

My dream, alas! was doomed to fade
Like bubbles in the air;
He marked each bud that I had made
And took his supper there!
The moral, which brings not a gleam
(To me) of satisfaction,
Is when a worm has had a dream
He backs it up with action!

VOL. 74. NO. 221.

ROSENHEIM FOUND GUILTY AND SENTENCED TO 2-YEAR TERM

Former City Weight Convicted by Jury of Frying Weight of Coal Liveries.

VERDICT RETURNED AFTER ONE DAY

He Was Charged With Conspiracy to Obtain Under False Pretense New Trial to Be So

A verdict of guilty, fixing the penalty at two years in the penitentiary, was returned at 12:15 today in the case of Milton Rosenheim, former weight checker of the City Water Department, with conspiracy to obtain false pretenses in falsifying weight of coal deliveries to the city. The jury deliberated for one hour and 15 minutes before returning the verdict. Rosenheim's counsel, Circuit Judge Miller, moved for a new trial on the ground that the evidence was insufficient. The judge denied the motion. Rosenheim's bond was $2500, and Edward J. McElroy, 112 Victor street, announced he would sign it.

The brief time taken by the jury to reach a decision was a surprise to those who had followed the case and who had expressed opinion that because of the complicated nature of the case, the jury would require much time in making its decision. Rosenheim made no statement concerning the verdict.

No Evidence for Defense. The State announced, when the case was called for trial, that it would rest its case, following a night during which Rosenheim's counsel had introduced a number of written demurrers to the State's case, all of which were overruled.

The chief demurrer asked for the dismissal of the case on the ground that the State had no evidence in its case. Rosenheim's counsel had covered in his argument of conspiracy, when the defense rested its case, that if any money was paid to Rosenheim, it was by the St. Clair and Mining Co., the coal company of which he is a partner, and of which are involved. The State's case, all of which were overruled.

The Court's instructions to the jury were that all parties who were involved in the conspiracy would be equally guilty. The jury was told that if it found Rosenheim guilty of the conspiracy, it would return a verdict of guilty. The jury returned its verdict at 12:15 today.

The instructions did not require the jury to consider the conspiracy in the period specified in the indictment, nor in the period specified in the indictment, but would permit the jury to find Rosenheim guilty of the conspiracy if it was found that he had conspired with the State's case, all of which were overruled.

Others yet to be tried on the charge are Frederick W. Klein, president of the St. Clair and Mining Co., and his son, E. Klein, treasurer of the company. These cases have been set for trial in the penitentiary.

Rosenheim, but the three men took a severance and elected to try Rosenheim first. M. Brichler of Belleville, formerly of the coal company, was charged with the same conspiracy, but the indictment against him was dismissed and he was a State's witness.

Rosenheim's Confession Made. At last night's session Rosenheim's confession was read to the jury in the office of the City Attorney. The confession was made on Oct. 20, 1921, following his arrest. In the confession he admitted that it had been obtained by duress and by promise of money. This was denied by Rosenheim, and Judge Miller said that the confession was not true.

"I made that confession," Rosenheim said.
